THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

VOL. XXII. ATLANTA, GA., WEDNESDAY MORNING, MARCH 11, 1891. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

ATLANTA TO THE ATLANTA

AN INTERESTING CEREMONY ON THE GULF.

THE ATLANTIANS ON A WAR SHIP

Where They Are Received with Honor by the Gallant Men of the United States Cruiser, The Atlanta.

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 10.—[Special.]—Atlanta day, was in all respects, the big day of the white squadron's visit to Pensacola.

The beautiful fleet, the pride of the nation, was, to all intents and purposes, turned over to the Atlanta delegation today.

From Rear Admiral Walker to the newest and freshest ensign, every officer of the fleet laid himself out to do everything in his power to make the reception of the Atlantians a hearty one, and each and every one succeeded even beyond our most sanguine expectations.

The members of our party were up bright and early, and barring a few remainders of the banquet of the night before, all were chipper as the proverbial Kentucky thoroughbreds.

THE ATLANTIANS AT SEA.

At 10 o'clock the party started towards Palafox wharf, where the Dolphin's launch and gigs were waiting. Members of the special committee, with the mysterious box they had guarded so carefully, were piled on the first boat, the others following as soon as room was provided. The Dolphin lay off about a quarter of a mile. She is, for the time, the admiral's flagship, and there the delegation was received by the head of the squadron and the brainiest man in the American navy, Rear-Admiral John G. Walker. A handsome man is the admiral, a younger addition of General Longstreet in appearance. He is a charming entertainer, and it soon became apparent that, in his oppinion, at least, there was nothing too good for Atlanta.

Greatly to the regret of everybody, Mayor and Mrs. Hemphill did not reach here in time to accompany the party. In fact, it wasn't until dark tonight that their train, which had been subjected to delay after delay, arrived.

The party then consisted of Captain E. P. Howell and Miss Howell, Colonel A. J. Mc Bride and Miss McBride, Judge Tom Simmons, Colonel John Milledge, Mr. Thomas Peters, Miss Peters and Tom Peters, Dr. Connally and his family, Mr. J. C. Freeman, Mr. G. B. Halderman, Lieutenants Martin and Bethea, and a large number of Pensacola ladies and gentlemen, who were Atlanta's special guests.

STEAMING FOR THE ATLANTA.

The Dolphin steamed out to the outside. As we rounded Fort Pickens the other ships of the squadron were seen far ahead. The weather was beautiful, the sharp cutting winds of the day before had died away, and we were given a taste of genuine southern sun. The water was smooth as glass. As the Dolphin drew near the other ships, the admiral's salute was given from them, and from the gigs that dotted the blue water on sides. The Dolphin dropped anchor, the boats drew along side, and and in less time than it takes to tell it we were all on board the Atlanta.

Captain Phillip is the chief officer of the Atlanta. Captain Howell, who commanded her from the time she was manned up to a few months ago, has been promoted to some on-shore duty, in connection with the drydock commission, I believe, so the coincidence of the gift being presented by a Captain Howell and received by one of the same, failed to materialize. Probably fifteen minutes was spent in the delightful occupation of becoming acquainted all around, and then Atlanta's present was brought out, the beautiful pieces being arranged on a table on deck.

THE SCENE ON BOARD.

The scene was an inspiring one. The table was so placed that the Atlanta's great eight-inch gun formed a background. Admiral Walker and some of the ladies leaned against this. Back of it were the marines at a present-arms. Close around the table on all sides were the officers of the cruiser, their brother officers from the other ships of the sqadron, the Atlantians and other visitors, while on the outside of this group, and all around, wherever one might look, were sailors in their white uniforms bearing the word "Atlanta" on their caps. Excursion tugs, loaded down with people less fortunate than we, though hardly less enthusiastic, were on either side, where their pasengers could get a good view of the exercises. It fell to the lot of Mr. Thomas Peters to present the committee and introduce the other speakers.

THE PRESENTATION.

He made a short and appropriate speech.

"You have been told," he said, in conclusion, "that I am in some way responsible for this gift, and I merely pressed the button; THE CONSTITUTION did the rest; so I introduce to you Captain Howell, the editor of that paper, and the representative of the citizens who contributed toward this gift."

Captain Howell made the formal presentation. He alluded to the significance of the gift, coming, as it did, from a city which had been laid desolate by the war, and especially coming from contributors who were, almost without exception, ex-confederates.

"Take it, Captain Philip," he said in conclusion. "It is but a small token of our appreciation of the honor the government did our city in naming this gallant vessel after her. With it goes the good will of our city and her citizens. We are proud of the Atlanta, and now that we have seen her, her gallant commander, officers and men, we know the honor of Atlanta is safe in your hands."

Captain Howell was frequently applauded. He introduced Colonel McBride who, as a representative of the city government, presented the greetings of the city.

THREE CHEERS GIVEN.

At the conclusion of his remarks, Captain Philip gave the order, "three cheers for the ladies and gentlemen from Atlanta, Ga.," and they were given with all the unction that 400 voices could give it.

"Now," began Captain Philip, "it is a well-grounded principlo that a soldier or sailor should always come prepared with ammunition," and everybody joined in his smile as he pulled out a little roll of manuscript. His acceptance was short and to the point. It concluded with an invitation to the ladies and gentlemen to go below and partake of a small repast, which it is needless to say was promptly accepted. The first course of this interesting feature of the day's entertainment consisted of claret punch from the new Atlanta punch-bowl.

THE TOASTS PROPOSED.

Admiral Walker proposed the first toast, "The Ladies of Atlanta," to which everybody responded in the most approved manner. Then followed an elegant luncheon, with more than a plenty of extra wet to wash it down. For an hour the party lingered over the festal board, then adieus were said and all were carried to the Chicago. Here Admiral Walker was at home. An hour was spent examining this, probably the finest cruiser in the American navy. From here we re-embarked on the Dolphin and were brought back to Pensacola. A day pleasantly and profitably spent.

A SOCIAL RECEPTION.

Tonight a pleasant reception was tendered Miss Howell and Miss McBride at the Hotel Escambia, when the party left for Atlanta, and the squadron, too, leaves tonight, Tampa being the objective point. The visit of the cruisers has been a great event for Pensacola, but it was left to Atlanta to furnish the pleasantest feature of the week. J. K. OHL.

ATLANTA'S PRESENT TO "THE ATLANTA."

The $1,000 Silver Service Presented to the United States Cruiser "Atlanta."

THE MEMORIAL GIFT.

A Beautiful and Artistic Sterling Silver Tea Set.

Atlanta's memorial gift is one of the handsomest ever seen here—a sterling silver tea set.

The punch bowl is sixteen inches high, of seven gallons' capacity. The border is an artistic piece of work, and the bowl is ornamented beautifully in repousse chasing. The kettle is thirteen and a half inches high, of five pints' capacity. Both these pieces bear the inscription—

"Citizens of Atlanta to the U. S. S., Atlanta."

There are five other pieces in the set. The coffee pot is nine inches, the tea pot six inches. These, with the sugar bowl, cream pitcher and slop bowl, are all sterling silver, repousse chased.

The chased figures are beautifully designed, and the general effect is very handsome indeed.

On each of the five smaller pieces is the word "Atlanta."

It was a gift worthy of the occasion, and that is saying a great deal for it. It was the best Freeman & Crankshaw could find on the market.

IT IS BLOWING OVER.

The United States and Great Britain's Quarrel Over Behring Sea.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The Behring Sea negotiations have taken a most favorable turn, and the governments of the United States and Great Britain appear to have at length reached a basis upon which to settle their differences, as is evidenced by a communication from Lord Salisbury to Sir Julian Pauncefote, British minister here, which was laid before Secretary Blaine, and was made public by him tonight, from which some extracts are here given.

The letter is dated February 21st, and in its opening paragraph says:

"The dispatch of Mr. Blaine, under date of the 17th of December, has been carefully considered by her majesty's government. The effect of the discussion which has been carried on between the two governments has been materially to narrow the area of the controversy. It is now quite clear that the advisers of the president do not claim Behring sea as mare clausum, and, indeed, that they repudiate that contention in express terms. Nor do they rely, as a justification for the seizure of British ships in the open sea, upon the contention that interests of seal fisheries exist in the United States government any right for that purpose, which, according to international law, it would not otherwise possess. Whatever importance they attach to the preservation of the fur seal species—and they justly look on it as an object deserving the most serious solicitude—they do not conceive that it confers upon any maritime power rights over the open ocean which that power could not assert on other grounds.

"The claim of the United States to prevent the exercise of seal-fishing by other nations in Behring sea rests now exclusively upon the interest which by purchase they possess in the ukase issued by Emperor Alexander I, in the year 1821, which prohibits foreign vessels from approaching within 100 Italian miles of the coast and island then belonging to Russia in Behring sea.

"It is not, as I understand, contended that the Russian government, at the time of the issue of this ukase, possessed any inherent right to enforce such a prohibition, or acquired by the act of issuing it any claims over the open sea beyond the territorial limit of three miles, which they would not otherwise have possessed. But it is said that this prohibition, worthless in itself, acquired validity and force against the British government because that government can be shown to have accepted its provisions. The ukase was a mere usurpation, but it is said that it was converted into valid international law, as against the British government, by the admission of this government itself.

"I am not concerned to dispute the contention that an invalid claim may, as against another government, acquire validity which, in its inception, it did not possess, if it is formally or effectively accepted by that government. But the vital question for discussion is whether the government of Great Britain has ever accepted the claim put forward in this ukase. Our contention is that not only can it not be shown that the government of Great Britain, at any time since 1821, has admitted the soundness of the pretention put forward by that ukase, but that it can be shown that it has has categorically denied it on more than one occasion."

In conclusion Lord Salisbury says:

"There is an omission in these questions which I have no doubt the government of the president will be very glad to repair, and that is the reference to an arbitrator of the question, what damages are due to persons who have been injured, in case it shall be determined by him that the action of the United States in seizing British vessels has been without warrant in international law. Subject to these reservations, her majesty's government will have great satisfaction in joining with the government of the United States in seeking by means of arbitration an adjustment of international questions which have so long formed matter of controversy between the two governments.

The Sun's Cotton Review.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Futures opened at six points decline, closing steady at one to two points decline from yesterday's closing prices. Speculation was less active today, and yet a fair business was done. Besides it was not so much like a handle to a jug—all on one side. There was a distinctive bull party which confronted the bears with some degree of spirit. A lower opening and further decline followed the weak accounts from Liverpool and better weather at the south, but when early settlers attempted to buy back the cotton of which they were short, they found themselves competing with moderate orders for "long" cotton, and prices appeared to go up much easier than they went down. Advices and opinions from the south respecting planting for the next crop were somewhat contradictory, but probably one had not better accept too readily the estimates that have been made of reduced acreage. Spot cotton declined 1 1-16, losing half of yesterday's advance.

The Government Will Not Interfere.

LONDON, March 10.—Dr. Fitzgerald raised a question in the house of commons today regarding the case of Mrs. Cathcart. A wealthy lady of Stafford, it is alleged, was confined in an insane asylum at the instigation of her husband. Dr. Fitzgerald asked whether it was true that Mrs. Cathcart had been seized by four servants of a private asylum within the precincts of law courts; whether the seizure constituted a case of contempt of court, and whether it was legal to seize a person under what was called the urgency order and confining him or her in an asylum before a medical examination had been made or a certificate given.

Mathews, home secretary, replied that Mrs. Cathcart had been taken in the Strand, outside the law courts, and it was entirely for the court to decide whether the seizure constituted a case of contempt. He added that all the requirements of the lunacy acts had been fulfilled, and he saw no reason to interfere in the matter.

THE ANTI-PARNELLITES.

Proceedings of the National Federation in Dublin.

DUBLIN, March 10.—The National Federation convention opened in this city today. Justin McCarthy presided. A letter from Archbishop Walsh was read, in which the archbishop said that four-fifths of the constituencies were ready to follow the lead of Kilkenny. Parnell's policy involves the destruction of the work of the last ten years. Letters of approval of the course adopted by the McCarthyites were read from Archbishop Croke and most of the bishops in Ireland.

Sir Thomas Esmonde, secretary of the convention, stated that 115 organizations had sent delegates. Letters had been received from ninety other organizations stating that these organizations would support McCarthy.

Mr. McCarthy said that the league had allowed itself to be captured in a recreant way by the "Crow-bar brigade." The federation, he declared, was well rid of the national league. It was thought by some persons that they had waited too long for the leaguers to take action, but they had felt bound to hold on in the hope that the party would remain united. For Parnell, he had no words but those of compassion. In following a wrong course Parnell's fate as leader of the Irish parliamentary party had become sealed.

Thomas Sexton, member of parliament for West Belfast, during the meeting made a statement to the effect that during the Boulogne negotiations, representatives of the majority of the Irish parliamentary party offered to leave the chairmanship of the party open for a year, if Parnell would retire temporarily from that position. The negotiations proceeded on this basis. Parnell's leadership, he said, is no longer within the range of practical politics.

RUSSIA IS WIDE-AWAKE,

And Is Watching Political Affairs in Scandinavia.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 10.—The tension of affairs caused by the political situation in Scandinavia is keenly watched and followed here Russia has long been waiting for an opportunity to incorporate into the Russian empire the country beyond the northwestern frontier, thus gaining a free Atlantic seaboard, and enabling Russia to make Ofoten, in Norway, a naval port of equal strategic importance to Vladivostock, near the northern limit of Corea, on the sea of Japan, by joining the gap now separating the railway systems of Russia and Scandinavia.

These schemes have hitherto been eclipsed by the grander schemes of the Balkans and the possible extension of Russian territory in that direction.

The semi-official Novoe Vremya has taken up the hint that if the Rothschilds espouse the cause of the Hebrews, it means financial pressure upon the Russian government, and publishes a long, venomous article stating that the Rothschilds themselves have given hostages to the Russian government, insomuch that they now own practically all the naphtha springs of Baku, and have arranged with the American Standard Oil Company to divide the profits of the markets of the world. The Novoe Vremya then says that Russia would not fail, in the event of financial troubles, to give a Roland for an Oliver.

The Czar More Severe Than Ever.

LONDON, March 10.—Since the London mansion house meeting, which expressed sympathy with the Hebrews, and resulted in sending, through the lord mayor, a memorial to the czar, which was returned unread, the severity of the anti-Jewish penalties has been redoubled in vigor. When written laws are inadequate, arbitrary laws replace them. The commission appointed to deal with the question is composed chiefly of Indophobes, and in view of the persecutions about 100,000 of the poorest classes of Jews have embraced Russian orthodoxy, but the baptized Jews are subjected to the same restrictions and disabilities as the others.

SHE WAS KATIE VANNUCHI.

Tracking the Old Hag Who Has Abducted a Little Girl.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 10.—[Special.]—Ten days ago an old woman and a young girl were arrested here. The girl was supposed to be Katie Vannuchi, who was abducted from her home in New York several weeks ago. The old woman gave her name as Mrs. Rogers. The couple secured their release on a writ of habeas corpus and left the city. Today Louis Dell' Homme, of New York, an uncle of the missing girl, and Henry Crisp, a reporter on The World, arrived here. They had a photograph of Katie Vannuchi, and as soon as the officers here saw it they recognized it as a picture of the girl they had detained for two days. When the woman and girl left here they said they were going to Hot Springs, Ark., and the uncle of the girl and The World reporter left for that place today.

A Duel in California.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 10.—Particulars of the killing of William Trimmer, by Frank Coto, at Elcajon, forms a sensational story. Trimmer had been courting Coto's sister, but was objected to by her relatives. Yesterday the young men met and Coto forbade Trimmer to call on his sister again. After the quarrel they decided to fight a duel. Twenty paces were stepped off and both began firing. After a few shots Trimmer fell dead, while Coto received a severe wound in the arm and back. He has been arrested to await the action of the grand jury.

By an Incendiary Hand.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., March 10.—[Special.]—Information has just reach here that the large cotton warehouse, No. 2, of the Pacolet Manufacturing Company, was destroyed by fire tonight. The origin of the fire is not definitely known, but there is strong reason for believing it to have been incendiary. The warehouse is though to have contained 2,800 bales of cotton. The president of the mills, Captain J. H. Montgomery, thinks there were not more than 2,000 bales lost. The entire loss by the fire is in the neighborhood of $85,000.

He Desires No Further Delay.

DECATUR, Ill., March 10.—Bill Crawford, sentenced to be hanged on Saturday for the murder of Mrs. Mathias, refused to apply for a stay of execution, although the judge had said it would be granted if requested. He says he is guilty and does not care for delay in the execution. He wants it over with. A motion for an inquiry into his sanity made by counsel has been overruled.

CRUZEN'S CHART

WHICH OPENS UP ALL TIMES TO VIEW.

HE WANTS TO SEE BEN HARRISON.

The Democratic Postmasters to Go from Now on—The Negro, Langston, Feels He Has Been Badly Treated.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—[Special.]—A very interesting individual, calling himself J. H. Cruzen, and claiming to hail from Xenia, O., was wandering about the white house today, like Coleridge's ancient mariner, seeking whom he might devour. He carried a chart which he was very anxious to show to President Harrison, but, finding that the chief magistrate was over on the eastern shore of Maryland gunning for ducks, he explained his wonderful chart to "Whistling Lige" and several newspaper men who were about. The title of the chart is: "Hebrew Christology in the Sabbath System, Showing the Relative Position of the Earth, Moon and the Sun, the Lunar, the Christian and the Ancient Solar Calendar for Each Day in the Year."

On the chart are symbols innumerable. All the signs of the zodiac are there. The sailors' compass and the clock of every life is to be seen. There are eclipses, hyperbolas and parabolas, the latter with their asymptotes. There are wheels within wheels, and circles as many as follow the casting of a stone into a pool of still water. Hebrew letters and words are all about, and scattered around and collected into groups. There are more figures than in a table of logarithms. And this chart, in the language of the man who gently, but so magnetically, held his heterogeneous audience, is intended to do this: "To present an unbroken chain of recognized time from Adam to the present date in perfect harmony with the United States Nautical Almanac. To show that the life of Christ, including the heavens and the earth, proving from prophecy not only his birthday, but twenty-eight days in relation to his life work, showing by beautiful time charts—solar, lunar and Christian—that the spirit of Christ has existed from the earliest period."

Langston Is Morose.

John M. Langston, the Virginia negro who was given a seat by the republicans of the last house, and who spent all of his private fortune of $40,000 at the last election, is wailing and weeping over his alleged bad treatment by his white political brethren. He says the negroes are disheartened at the failure of the force bill, and at the shabby treatment accorded himself, and he predicts the utter collapse of the republican party in the south as the result.

So far this administration has been fairly liberal toward democratic officials, especially postmasters, and most of them have been allowed to serve out their terms. From this out, however, it is understood that a new policy is to be inaugurated, and that removals are to be made fast and furious. Of the forty-eight democratic presidential postmasters in Georgia when Harrison went into the white house, but three remain, and the near future will probably see them fall beneath the ax of the spoilsman. They are Ellis Hunter, at Brunswick, whose term expires January 31, 1892; John F. Redding at Barnesville, January 16, 1892, and J. W. Little at West Point, January 31, 1892.

PALMER WILL WIN.

Two of the Farmers Will Aid the Democrats Today.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 10.—There appears no doubt tonight that the democratic candidate, John M. Palmer, will be elected to the United States senate tomorrow.

After a long talk with General Palmer, this afternoon, Representatives Moore and Cockrell issued a lengthy address to their party—the Farmers' Mutual Beneficial Association, setting forth the efforts they have made to secure the election of an independent candidate to the senate, their efforts with the republican party and the attempt to elect Streeter.

"Becoming satisfied we could not elect a man who would fully represent our people, we today called on General Palmer. This interview was satisfactory even beyond our expectations.

"General Palmer does not fully represent us, yet he has forced us to believe he is an honest man. We are more firmly convinced than ever that the future prosperity and happiness of this country depends upon the success and growth of an independent party,

"The independent political movement by toiling millions is the only hope of the people. In view of these facts, we will tomorrow cast our votes for John M. Palmer, and bring this prolonged contest to a close."

For Hearst's Successor.

SACRAMENTO, March 10.—The first ballot in the senate for United States senator resulted: M. M. Estes, 12; Charles N. Felton, 7; M. H. DeYoung, 4; D. A. Otrom, democrat, 10; scattering, 7.

The democratic caucus has agreed to give a complimentary nomination of United States senator to Messrs. Goucher, Ostrom and Coleman, each on a separate day.

Rhode Island Republicans.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 10.—The republican convention for the nomination of state officers met in Music hall at 11 o'clock this morning and made the following nominations: Governor, H. W. Ladd; lieutenant-governor, Lyman B. Goff; attorney general, Daniel R. Ballou; secretary of state, G. H. Utter; general treasurer, T. Munford Teabury.

Boyd Is a Citizen.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 10.—Governor Boyd this morning filed an answer in the quo-warranto proceedings instituted in the supreme court by ex-Governor Thayer. The answer holds that Boyd is a citizen to all intents and purposes, even though his father cannot produce his second naturalization papers. Governor Thayer's counsel at once filed a demurrer to the answer, which will be argued next Thursday.

INKSTANDS AND SPITTOONS

Used as Missiles in the Arkansas Legislature.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 10.—An uproar was created in the house of representatives this afternoon by a quarrel between Representatives Head, independent, and Mitchell, democrat, in which the lie was passed, and then inkstands, spittoons and other movables were used as missiles. Nobody was hurt, but several members, besides the combatants, were liberally bespattered with the contents of the inkstands and spittoons. The belligerents were placed under arrest, but offered apologies and were released. The question under discussion was whether the matter of calling a constitutional convention should be submitted to a vote of the people or decided by the legislature.

No Donations Wanted.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The Sherman statue fund committee received a letter today from P. T. Sherman, son of the late general, stating that his father had left the family well provided for, and asking them to rescind their resolution that any surplus of the fund should be given to the Sherman family. The committee rescinded their action. The statue fund amounts to $24,235.

Will Continue the Shut-Down.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 10.—The Edgar Thompson steel works of Carnegie's, at Braddock, Pa., which shut down for repairs several weeks ago, will not resume operations for some time. A general resumption was expected by the employes this week, but the firm has decided to continue the shut-down for this month at least. This action enforces idleness on nearly 2,000 men. No cause is assigned for the continued suspension.

THE AUGUSTA AND WEST FLORIDA.

The Present Company Dissolves in Favor of the Charter Subscribers.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 10.—[Special.]—The building of the Augusta and West Florida railroad is assured. The trouble that has existed in the company, which gave rise to the doubt of its ever being built, was ended this afternoon, at a meeting of the directors, at which a resolution was adopted, which deposes of both President Bally, of the railroad, and President Short, of the construction company, to the effect that the company be dissolved.

Mr. Jesse Thompson, who is the original and principal projector of the road, was asked what was the meaning of the resolution. He said it means the building of the road; that it cleared the road from the schemes of parties us who had been interested in it, and which was the cause of delay. Mr. Thompson says the road now reverts into the hands of the original incorporators, who will go to work at once, and build the road complete, according to the original plans, and by the route first mapped out. A meeting of the original incorporators is being held tonight, and plans for pushing the road to immediate completion are being discussed.

AT CHICAMAUGA TODAY.

Secretary of War Proctor and Party Arrive.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 10.—[Special.]—Secretary of War Proctor and party arrived here tonight at 10:30 o'clock. They were met at the depot by Mayor Merriam, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and a reception committee of prominent bankers, lawyers and manufacturers, besides a large number of citizens generally. General John T. Wilder, who commanded a brigade of cavalry at Chickamauga, had joined the party at Johnson City, and on the arrival of Secretary Proctor and others he introduced them to the committeeman. The guests were then escorted to the Hotel Stanton where apartmedts had been reserved for them.

Tomorrow morning at 9:40 o'clock the party will leave for the Chickamauga battlefield to define the boundary lines of the national park.

CONGRESSMAN BRECKINRIDGE DYING.

He Is Attacked at Pensacola with an Acute Case of La Grippe.

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 10.—[Special.]—Congressman Breckinridge, of Kentucky, is very ill at the Hotel Escambia, and Admiral Walker's physician, who is in charge, expresses grave apprehensions for his condition. The eloquent Kentuckian was compelled to absent himself from the banquet, at which he was to speak, an acute case of the grippe and tonsilitis having developed since Sunday. Tonight his temperature is very high, and the physicians and members of the congressional party who came with him, are very much alarmed.

PARKER IS FREE.

The Goldbug Fakir at Large Again and Happy.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 10.—[Special.]—Parker, the gold bar fakir, who played a slick game on Messrs. Weathersbee and Kennedy, of Williston, S. C., and robbed them of $5,000 several weeks ago, who was caught in Atlanta several days afterward by Sergeant Ozburn, was brought here last night from Aiken, and released. Some party from Chicago, claiming to be Parker's brother-in-law, met him here. It is said the Chicago party paid the officer the amount of money that Parker had faked from the Williston merchants, and Parker was then turned loose and went his way merrily.

Macon Fire Insurance Company.

MACON, Ga., March 10.—[Special.]—The stockholders of the Macon Fire Insurance Company held their annual meeting today. The affairs of the company were shown to be in a most excellent condition. The following directors were elected: S. S. Dunlap, R. E. Park, R. H. Plant, H. T. Johnson, M. Nussbaum, S. Waxelbaum, H. J. Lamar, Jr., J. S. Baxter, E. S. Wilson. S. S. Dunlap was re-elected president; R. E. Park, vice president, and Edgar S. Wilson secretary and treasurer.

The Meeting Was Secret.

ALBANY, Ga., March 10.—[Special.]—The city has been full of alliancemen today, called here to participate in a convention, for what purpose is not known. Among those present was Editor Harry Brown, of The Southern Alliance Farmer, who returned to Atlanta by the 12:20 o'clock afternoon train. It cannot be definitely ascertained whether the delegates were convened or not. None of them would talk, and an air of mystery hangs over the matter.

The Work of an Incendiary.

BOSTON, Ga., March 10.—[Special.]—Messrs. Bryce & Adams, merchants at McDonald, lost their barn and stables, with their entire contents, by fire last night. This includes four large draft mules, wagons, harness and a large quantity of corn, hay and fodder. The fire was not discovered until the building was falling in, and too late to save anything. There was no insurance. It is generally believed that it is the work of some fire fiend.

Claims Under the Direct Tax Law.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Assistant Secretary Nettleton notified claim agents and others interested in claims under the direct tax act, that all payments under that act will be made to the states, in trust for the citizens thereof from whom they are collected, and their legal representatives, and that claim agents and others will not be allowed to examine the direct tax records of the department unless they are authorized.

He Was a Defaulter.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 10.—[Special.]—Three weeks ago, S. A. Endsley, postmaster at Walnut Grove, in this county, disappeared very mysteriously, leaving a family unprovided for. Today Postoffice Inspector Freer completed an examination of Endsley's books and accounts, and found a shortage amounting to nearly $2,000. A reward has been offered for the arrest of the missing postmaster.

Mysterious Disappearance.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 10.—[Special.]—Charles Hart, a white candy maker, who came here from Blackville about six weeks ago, and who was employed at Von Santen's, has mysteriously disappeared. He has been missing since Friday last, and the detectives are hunting for him. His friends fear that he has been foully dealt with.

He is accompanied by Colonel Lagrand Hannon, vice president of the Delaware and Hudson railroad, and Chester Griswold, of New York.

A Memphis Lawyer Shot.

THE GRAND CONCERT

By Professor William C. Rehm at DeGive's Thursday Night.

The concert to be given tomorrow, March 12th, at the opera house by William C. Rehm, in connection with Atlanta's very best talent, such as Mrs. E. S. Kendrick, soprano; Mr. William Owens, the new tenor; Mr. Sam Burbank, baritone; Mr. Edward Jung, the wonderful violinist, formerly a pupil of the Cincinnati College of Music; Messrs. Alfredo Barili and John G. Evins, will surely be a great success, financially and artistically. Mr. Rehm is busily engaged preparing a fine programme, such as never has been listened to in Atlanta. Mr. Rehm's principal object is to have a variety in the concert, so that every one who comes will be greatly pleased and be wishing for the same programme to be repeated again in the future. The advance sale of tickets is great, and no one should let the opportunity pass of hearing this concert.

DROWNED IN AUGUSTA.

MISS LOUISE KING CONNELLY AND MR. HENRY C. LAMAR

DRAWN INTO THE MILLRACE,

While Boating, and Both Drowned—The Story of the Flood—The City in Gloom Over the Tragedy.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 10.—[Special.]—One of the saddest of accidents shocked this whole community this evening.

It is doubly regretted because the lives of two of the most prominent and popular young people of Augusta were lost.

DRAWN INTO THE MILLRACE.

Mr. Henry C. Lamar and Miss Louise King Connelly were out pleasure-riding on the canal, when their boat was drawn into the race, or grating, at the bulkhead, at the Warwick mills. The rushing current swamped the small boat, and both were drowned. Their bodies were soon found in the raceway, below the mill, which is several miles above Augusta, where Lake Olmstead joins the canal. The high water in the river did not affect the canal or lake, but the millrace was opened as a precaution, in case the canal banks were injured by the high water in the river alongside.

THE BODIES RECOVERED.

The two bodies were carried to their homes to the grief-stricken families, and all Augusta is horror-stricken by this terrible and double drowning.

WHO THEY WERE.

Mr. Lamar was a nephew of Hon. Joseph B. Cummings, and very popular in Augusta. Miss Connelly was a granddaughter of the late Judge John P. King, niece and ward of Henry B. King, and niece of the Marchioness of Anglesey. She was a belle and beauty, and her philanthropic and Christian works made her the worthy successor of her noted aunt, the late Louise King, who was worshiped by rich and poor in Augusta. Miss Connelly was also an heiress and only nineteen. Mr. Lamar was about twenty-six years of age.

THE WATER RECEDING

And Augusta Will be Dry Land Once More.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 10.—[Special.]—Augusta is all right and safe tonight. The Savannah river rose its last inch from 2:30 to 3:30 o'clock this morning. It then remained at a standstill for two hours, and at 5:30 o'clock, reached its highest mark, which was 35 feet 5½ inches. At 5:36 o'clock it commeneed receding, and dropped one-half an inch in the hour ending 6:30 o'clock, and has been slowly going down.

The trestle of the South Carolina railroad was washed away, and rains on that road are running on the Richmond and Danville track to Graniteville, S. C. The telegraph wires on that road are also down between here and Bath. The Georgia railroad trains are arriving and departing from the orphan asylum, and passengers for that road have to ride through water to catch the trains. All the schedules on the Port Royal and the Western Carolina and the Augusta, Gibson and Sandersville roads have been entirely abandoned.

The damage cannot be estimated until the water subsides, but it is not thought that it will amount to a considerable sum.

Condition of the Levees.

NEW ORLEANS, March 10.—No information concerning any breaks on the Louisiana line of levees has been received up to today, and the state engineers are hopeful that the dykes will successfully restrain the flood, though in the northern portion of the state there are several levees about whose stability some apprehension is felt. The water has not reached the level of last year's flood, and many of the levees have been raised and strengthened so that the state engineers believe there is less danger than there was last year. The water is almost up to the crest of the levees on Bayou la Fourch, and fear is felt there, as la Fourch intersects a territory richly dotted with sugar plantations. The government engineer here is making arrangements to charter parol boats to watch dangerous points along the river and to check, if possible, crevasses in incipient stages. Lieutenant Mills, of the government service, and State Engineer Richardson have gone to the front on a tour of inspection and to take precautions against the inroads of the Mississippi.

The Blizzard in England.

LONDON, March 10.—Snowed-up trains continue to be reported, and in every case severe hardships to passengers resulted from a lack of means of heating the cars. Some of the passengers are missing, and the explanation advanced is that they left the trains to seek shelter elsewhere and perhaps lost their lives in snow-drifts. Passengers bound for London from the continent have been forced to stop at Sherness, trains being unable to proceed any further on account of the snow. Traffic on the Great Western railroad is completely blocked, and trains of that road are snowed up at different points. The sea wall, supporting the Great Western railroad line between Dawlish and Exeter, has been breached by heavy pounding from the sea.

Chamberlain Files His Bond.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 10.—[Special.]—Receiver Chamberlain, of the Three C.'s railroad, filed his official bond in $25,000 today, and has taken formal possession of the road.

The report that the steamer Buckeye had been lost near Edmonds, with twenty-five passengers aboard, was disproved by the safe arrival of that steamer at Seattle.

While stepping from his engine to the coping of a bridge, at Huntington, Pa., Engineer James Hamilton missed his footing and fell a distance of sixty-five feet upon the rocks below, meeting with instant death.

Dudley, Hall & Co., tea importers and sugar dealers, of Boston, Mass., have suspended. Liabilities, about $400,000; assets, indefinite, but largely below liabilities. The firm was the second largest tea house in the United States.

The Irish local government board issued a report that the failure of the potato crop was due to the bad quality of the seed planted. Some of the board's inspectors estimate the potato crop failure as equivalent to the loss to the people affected of their midday meal, and the loss of a portion of their suppers for a part of the year.

CAPT. J. C. RUTHERFORD

DIES AT HIS ORANGE GROVE IN FLORIDA.

His Death Sudden and Unexpected—The Story of His Life and Services—Brave in War and Eloquent at the Bar.

MACON, Ga., March 10.—[Special.]—Macon was shocked today to hear of the death of Captain John C. Rutherford, the great lawyer and very eloquent orator. Captain Rutherford was well-known throughout the state as a magnificent advocate before a jury, and was justly esteemed as one of the leading members of the Georgia bar.

He was a splendid specimen of the physical and mental men. His physique was powerful, and he often boasted of his great strength. About a yea ago he was attacked with chronic dysentery, from which he never recovered. He spent a great deal of his time at his orange grove in Florida, seeking a return of health and strength, and it was thought by Major Bacon and all friends that Captain Rutherford was steadily improving, and they were not prepared for the dreadful news that came today from DeLand Fla., announcing his death. This morning at an early hour Major Bacon received a telegram that war sent from DeLand last night, saying that Captain Rutherford was extremely ill and not expected to live through the night. This was the first information that Major Bacon had received of Captain Rutherford's critical condition. He and Mr. Minter Wimberly were preparing to go to Captain Rutherford's bedside when a second telegram came at 3 o'clock this afternoon saying that Rutherford was dead, and that the remains and the family would leave for Athens today, where the interment will be made. Captain Rutherford has always been a close student and a hard worker, but during the past year he has been unable to do any legal service whatever. The last work he did was about a year ago, when he argued before the supreme court a motion for a new trial in the case of Tom Woolfolk. It is generally thought that Captain Rutherford's break in health and strength was due to his herculean work in the Woolfolk trial. Many believe that Woolfolk would have been living today had Captain Rutherford't health permitted him to appeal the case to the United States supreme court.

It will be remembered that Captain Rutherford was married about two weeks ago to a Virginia lady.

Captain Rutherford was born in Athens, about forty-eight or forty-nine years ago. His father is the venerable Professor Williams Rutherford, who was for so many years the distinguished teacher of mathematics at the State University. His mother was a sister to the late General Howell Cobb. Captain Rutherford was on the staff of General T. R. R. Cobb in the late war. He made a brave and gallant soldier. He caught the dead body of General Cobb as it was falling from his horse at the battle of Fredericksburg. After the war Captain Rutherford taught school for awhile. He then went to Bainbridge and engaged in the practice of the law under the firm name of Rutherford & Fleming. He was solicitor general of that circuit. He moved to Macon about fifteen years ago, and formed a law partnership with Major A. O. Bacon, which continued until the hour of his death. The firm did immense business, the largest in this section. They are the attorneys of the East Tennessee railroad. Rutherford's defense of Woolfolk made him famous in the criminal annals of the country. Rutherford was a man of many excellent characteristics. A noble trait of his was that he had never been known to speak harshly or unkindly of a single human being. He was wedded to the law. He eschewed politics.

Major Bacon, Minter Wimberly and others, of Macon, will meet the body en route and accompany it to Athens.

Captain Rutherford's daughters reside in Athens. He left a competency of this worlds goods. Captain Rutherford was a fine orator and has delivered many literary addresses. His last speech of this kind was at the Jeff Davis Memorial meeting in Macon.

A DESPERATE ATTEMPT

To Break Out of Fulton County Jail Yesterday.

A bold attempt at jail breaking was prevented by Jailer Faith yesterday morning.

The prisoners were just on the point of gaining their liberty when the vigilance of the jailer thwarted them.

A peculiarity of the bold attempt was that the prisoners who made it were confined in the dungeon.

A few minutes later and the birds would have been gone.

They are Dennis Alexander and Jeff Williams, two of the most desperate negroes in the jail, both of whom were confined on serious charges.

Alexander and Williams are so unruly that they could not be kept in the regular prison along with the other prisoners. They had to be put in the dungeon because of their brutal abuse of prisoners in the main ward.

Here is how they attempted to escape:

The walls of the dungeon, which is in the basement of the jail, are of solid masonry, plain rocks on the inside and plastered on the outside.

With a sharp instrument, which they obtained somehow or other, the two prisoners succeeded in removing several large stones from the inside of the cell, preserving the plaster on the outside to prevent discovery.

The hole was large enough to admit the passage of a man's body. All that was necessary was to remove the loose stone and break the outside plastering, and the prisoners would be in the basement of the jail.

Once there they would have had comparatively little trouble in getting on the outside of the jail altogether.

The kitchen and other supply rooms are in the basement, and they would have made their escape through this channel.

The discovery was made by Jailers Faith and Trotti, on one of their early morning rounds, and Alexander and Williams were removed to another cell for safe keeping.

THE INSPECTOR HERE.

He Takes a Look Through the Reconstructed Federal Building.

Mr. Adolf Clus, inspector of public buildings of the treasury department, who has been in the city for the past two days, examining the federal building, left for Washington last evening.

In reply to questions as to whether a reassignment of rooms in the building was contemplated, he replied that he was not at liberty to furnish information on the subject until after making his report to the secretary of the treasury. The small courtroom on the third floor will be used by the circuit court, and the large rooms on the fourth floor will be occupied by the district court. Opening off from the courtroom are the grand and petit jury rooms, and across the hall are the offices of Clerk Carter, of the district, and Clerk Fuller, of the circuit court, and District Attorney Darnell, Assistant District Attorney Angier and Clerk Phillips.

"Where will the signal service office be located?" Mr. Clus was asked.

"I don't know yet," he replied, "but I suppose they will be given the top floor rooms. There they have two well-lighted and ventilated rooms, two storerooms and two balconies for the exposure of their instruments. I know that some objections have been made to those quarters, but were I in that business myself I should not object to them. They are exactly the same rooms occupied by the observer and his asstants before, you know, only they are in better condition than formerly. Access to these rooms is gained by ladders now, but the builders will be held rigidly to their contract which called for stairways instead."

SPARKS IS RECEIVER.

THE MACON CONSTRUCTION COMPANY IN TROUBLE.

McTighe & Co. Throw the Company Into the Courts—The Colleton Scheme in Danger—History of the Affair.

MACON, Ga., March 10.—[Special.]—There will be consternation in Macon tomorrow, when it is learned that the great Macon Construction Company has about gone by the board.

This afternoon, McTighe & Co., the large and well-known railroad contractors, filed two big liens against the company and the railroads, the Georgia Southern and the Macon and Birmingham and the Macon and Atlantic.

Tonight, at 8:30 o'clock, they filed in Bibb superior court their petition, asking for a receiver for the Macon Construction Company and all their property. One of McTighe & Co's. liens is against the Macon and Atlantic road for $298,000. Two hundred thousand dollars of this amount is past due for terms of thirty, sixty and ninety days and the balance due on the completion of the contract. They have no security except $10,000 in bonds of the Macon and Atlantic railroad, which are practically valueless. Only fifteen miles of this road have been completed, and upon that $300,000 in bonds have been issued. $200,000 of which have been hypothecated by defendant to the Macon Construction Company and other parties for debts due and owing by the defendant.

THE TWO COMPANIES.

The Macon Construction Company have $500,000 of stock in the Macon and Savannah Construction Company. The two construction companies are practically the same.

The second lien is against the Macon and Birmingham road for $99,600.

This road was built by the Macon Construction Company. Fifteen thousand dollars of the above lien have been due since November 1st last, and the sum of $84,000 is due November 1st next. McTighe & Co. have $94,000 of bonds of the Macon and Birmingham, which are practically worthless. This road is finished from Macon to LaGrange, a distance of ninety-seven miles, and is bonded at $20,000 per mile. All of these bonds have been hypothecated. The Georgia Southern road is finished from Macon to Palatka, a distance of 285 miles, bonded at $12,000 per mile. There is stock to the amount of $4,275,000. The bonds and stock belong to the Macon Construction Company, and have been hypothecated.

THE COLETON SCHEME.

The Macon and Savannah Construction Company owns 5,000 acres of land at Coleton, the deeds to which are in the name of W. B. Sparks, and not in the name of the company. There are $115,000 of floating debts due. This consists of wages due employes for several months, local bills and kindred accounts. McTighe & Co. claim that they have demanded payment of their claims for construction and the same has been refused. They allege in their petition that the defendants are utterly insolvent, and ask for the appointment of a receiver.

THE RECEIVER APPOINTED.

Tonight Judge Miller appointed W. B. Sparks temporary receiver, to take charge of the property and operate the roads until the matter is cleared. Sparks is president of the Macon Construction Company.

THE ORIGIN OF THE COMPANY.

The Macon Construction Company was organized less than four years ago with a capital stock of $500,000, at $10,000 per share, most all of which is held by Macon parties.

They first built the Georgia Southern, which was a phenomenal success at first, but the company, in attempting at the same time to build railroads to Birmingham, Savannah and Culloden, became entangled. Recently Sparks formed a combination with President Robinson, of the Seaboard and Roanoke system, by which Robinson was to guarantee 6 per cent interest on the stock of the Macon Construction Company and its roads. This reported combination caused the Macon Construction stock to increase in value. Sometime ago the stock went from $10,000 per share to $32,000, and then fell back as low as $17,000, but when the Seaboard and Roanoke deal was reported, the stock advanced to $40,000 per share, and the shareholders last week refused to sell at that figure. A few days ago the Seaboard and Roanoke people came to Macon, and went over the Georgia Southern line with Sparks.

THE TRADE OFF.

Sparks returned this morning to Macon alone, and it is understood that the Seaboard and Roanoke people returned to Baltimore Sunday night via Savannah. It is reported that President Robinson was not as well pleased with the Georgia Southern and his deal as he was expected to be, and the agreement or combination he had made with Sparks was declared off. This, therefore, has caused McTighe & Co. to proceed against the Macon Construction Company, and ask for a receiver.

Whether these proceedings will have the effect of preventing the building of the Macon and Elberton railroad, the Macon and Atlantic, and finishing the Macon and Birmingham, and carrying into execution the Colleton land and harbor scheme, remains to be seen. It is hoped that all yet be well.

SHE FELL INTO THE FIRE

While Her Mother Was Out and Dies from the Burn.

A three-year-old child, little Hattie Horton, met a terrible fate Monday night.

She was burnt to death.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Horton live on Windsor street, near the East Tennessee shops.

Monday, the husband and father went to his work as usual, leaving his wife and his little one behind, happy in their little home.

Some time after the husband left, Mrs. Horton went out of the room, leaving little Hattie alone.

While she was out only a few minutes, the child got to playing and fell in.

The mother was horrified when she found her babe in flames. She rushed to her and quickly extinguished the flames, but not before the little child had been fatally burned.

After lingering until night the child died, in spite of the physicians' attempts to save it.

Yesterday the little body was taken to Dallas by its parents for burial.

THE FUND STILL GROWS

ONE GIFT OF $500 TO THE GRADY HOSPITAL.

The Neal Loan and Banking Company Makes a Liberal Donation—The Fund Is Now Nearly $67,000.

The Grady hospital fund took a big upward jump yesterday.

One gift was a check for $500.

The check was signed by T. B. Neal, president of the Neal Loan and Banking Company, and was transmitted to Mr. Hirsch in a letter written by Mr. E. H. Thornton, the cashier.

The letter speaks for itself:

ATLANTA, Ga., March 10, 1891.—Hon. Joe Hirsch, Dear Sir: I am instructed by Mr. T. B. Neal, president, and the stockholders of this bank, to subscribe $500 to the Grady hospital. We heartily endorse this much needed and noble work of charity. Very truly yours,

E. H. THORNTON, Cashier.

Chairman Hirsch was overjoyed with the magnificent and generous gift, and on behalf of the building committee sent this answer to Mr. Thornton:

ATLANTA, Ga., March 10, 1891.—Mr. E. H. Thornton, Cashier Neal Loan and Banking Company, City—Dear Sir: In behalf of the building committee of the Grady hospital I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of this date covering check for $500 as subscription of the Neal Loan and Banking Company to the Grady hospital. The hearty endorsement shown by you in such tangible form is most gratefully felt by our committee, both on account of the generosity displayed and the expressions of approval accompanying same.

With best wishes, I am, JOSEPH HIRSCH, Chairman.

The members of the building committee were active yesterday and a small sum was raised in addition to the Neal Loan and Banking Company's liberal gift.

The subscriptions were:

S. W. Goode	$ 10 00
Phillips & Crew	25 00
Bain & Kirkpatrick	25 00
Total	$60 00

The day's work pleased Chairman Hirsch very much, and when he went home last night he wore a happy smile.

"If we can do that well every day," he said, "we won't wait very long for the money.

"I feel certain that we will find liberal responses wherever we go, and I know that there are many more $500 givers in Atlanta yet."

The committee will be in the field again today.

The amount secured now is.

Previously acknowledged	$66,200
The Neal Loan and Banking Co.	500
S. W. Goode	10
Phillips & Crew	25

A Card from Mr. Hirsch.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 10, 1891.—Editor Constitution—Dear Sir: In your last Sunday's issue, under caption of subscriptions to the Grady hospital, you say amount subscribed by Mrs. R. D. Wadley, of Savannah, Ga., $200. Will you please correct this, in so far as the generous subscriber is Mrs. D. R. Wadley, of Atlanta? And in this connection I desire to acknowledge, on behalf of our committee, most grateful thanks to this lady for her generous appreciation of our work. Yours truly, JOSEPH HIRSCH, Chairman.

Alopecia, Falling Hair

Head a Pitiable Sight. Hair Came Out in Fingerfuls. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

In November, 1888, there came a ball spot on the back of my head. In January, 1889, this commenced to grow larger, and other spots came, until the back of my head was almost destitute of hair. My head was a pitiable sight, the hair came out by the fingerfuls, and seemed entirely dead. I consulted your book, "How to Cure Skin Diseases," and found that I had "Alopecia." I immediately began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. The hair stopped falling out, but at first I despaired of ever having any more hair. I persevered in the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, however, and in three months' time a light, downy growth of hair came out, which turned dark and became coarse. Now my head is entirely well and covered with hair. C. M. MANNING, Sunsburg, N. C.

Little Baby's Skin Cured

When my baby was about one month old, a skin disease made its appearance on his forehead, and continued growing worse until it covered nearly his whole body. A physician pronounced it eczema, and first prescribed potassium, and afterwards a solution of arsenic, but no good results followed. I purchased your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the first lot took away almost entirely all signs of eczema. The second lot removed all signs of the disease, and the child is now perfectly well and has a fine skin. I thank you most heartily for the cure of my child. J. D. CALLIHAN, Magruder, N. C

Purify Your Blood

When spring approaches, it is very important that the blood should be purified, as at this season impurities which have been accumulating for months or even years, are liable to manifest themselves and seriously affect the health. Hood's Sarsaparilla is undoubtedly the best blood purifier. It expels every taint, drives out scrofulous humors, and gives to the blood the quality and tone essential to good health.

"For five years I was sick every spring, but last year began in February to take

Hood's Sarsaparilla

I used five bottles and have not seen a sick day since." G. W. SLOAN, Milton, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla purified my blood, gave me strength, and overcame the headache and dizziness, so that I am able to work again. I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to others whose blood is thin or impure, and who feel worn out or run down." LUTHER NASON, Lowell, Mass.

"I take Hood's Sarsaparilla every year as a spring tonic, with most satisfactory results." C. PARMELEE, 349 Bridge street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

"I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine for women, or anyone who has bad blood." JENNIE E. SMITH, East Broad Top, Pa.

It is true economy to buy Hood's Sarsaparill for "100 Doses One Dollar" is original with and true only of this popular medicine. If you wish to prove this, buy a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and measure its contents. You will find it to hold 100 teaspoonfuls. Now read the directions and you will find that the average dose for persons of different ages is less than a teaspoonful. This is certainly conclusive evidence of the peculiar strength and economy of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Give it a trial this spring.

Purifies the Blood

"My little boy, for whom I procured Hood's Sarsaparilla, was so badly afflicted with scrofula that the while top of his head was one complete mass of matter. I doctored with him 2 years and found no relief, and then I heard of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I gave him one bottle, and there was a most wonderful improvement. I then got one bottle more and that cured him completely. I would not be without Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house. I give it to my children for a spring medicine." MRS. H. D. LEROY, 1641 Hogan street, St. Louis, Mo.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

The Voice

Is easily injured—the slightest irritation of the throat or larynx at once affecting its tone, flexibility, or power. All efforts to sing or speak in public, under such conditions, become not only painful but dangerous, and should be strictly avoided until every symptom is removed. To effect a speedy cure no other medicine is equal to

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

The best of anodynes, this preparation rapidly soothes irritation, strengthens the delicate organs of speech, and restores the voice to its tone and power. No singer or public speaker should be without it. Lydia Thompson, the famous actress, certifies: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been of very great service to me. It improves and strengthens the voice, and is always effective for the cure of colds and coughs."

"Upon several occasions I have suffered from colds, causing hoarseness and entire loss of voice. In my profession of an auctioneer any affection of the voice or throat is a serious matter, but at each attack, I have been relieved by a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This remedy, with ordinary care, has worked such a that I have suffered very little inconvenience. I have also used it in my family, with excellent results, in coughs, colds, &c."—Wm. H. Quartly, Minlaton, Australia.

"In the spring of 1853, at Portsmouth, Va., I was prostrated by a severe attack of typhoid pneumonia. My physicians exhausted their remedies, and for one year I was not able to even articulate a word. By the advice of Dr. Shaw I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and to my surprise and great joy, in less than one month I could converse easily, in a natural tone of voice. I continued to improve and have become since a well man. I have often recommended the Pectoral, and have never known it to fail."—George B. Lawrence, Valparaiso, Ind.

AMONG THE RAILWAYS.

THE BLUE RIDGE AND ATLANTIC NOT INSOLVENT

Says Judge Thomas—The Marietta and North Georgia Strike—Other Matters of Interest.

The strike on the Marietta and North Georgia road was the principal topic of conversation in the railroad yards yesterday. Several of the striking engineers came down to the city to talk over affairs with their fellow-laborers on the other roads.

Mayor Glover, of Marietta, a brother of Superintendent Glover, of the Marietta and North Georgia, says the men were too hasty in their action. They went to his brother with their demands some time ago when he was sick, and he asked them to defer the matter until such time as he was able to confer with them. They wanted a raise of wages from $3.50 to $4.00 per day. They were not satisfied with his answer and expressed themselves so, and he discharged the three leaders. Chief Arthur was then telegraphed for and came to Atlanta. He had a consultation with Superintendent Glover and asked that the men be reinstated, but the latter refused to do so.

It is learned among the other men that Chief Arthur left town without ordering or authorizing a strike, but the men concluded the time had arrived for such an action and commenced yesterday, each man abandoning his engine just where it happened to be when the appointed hour arrived. Thirteen, the whole force, struck, the firemen going out with them.

Mayor Glover states that passenger traffic was uninterrupted with the exception of one accommodation train, which was temporarily taken off, but that all the freight business was at a standstill.

The strike, the men claim, although not authorized by the national order, will be recognized and sustained by it. Word was brought to the city yesterday that Superintendent Glover had sent for the strikers, and was endeavoring to effect a settlement with them. They say the road could not possibly hold out against the strike, as nearly all its freight business is marble carrying, and the engineers of connecting roads would refuse to haul it, thus crippling the road.

A report was passed around in Atlanta recently to the effect that the Blue Ridge and Atlantic road was about to go into the hands of a receiver. It will be remembered that The Athens Banner, several weeks ago, published the same rumor, but in its next issue printed a full restriction of its statement. Judge W. P. Thomas, president of the road, was asked about the matter yesterday, and replied:

"The road is not in the hands of a receiver, and there is not the remotest probability or possibility that it ever will be. The entire indebtedness of the Blue Ridge and Atlantic Railroad Company is less than $1,000. If there is another railroad in the United States with so small a debt less than $50 per mile, I don't know it. This indebtedness being for current expenses is rarely ever less than this amount and rarely over $2,000. So you see any talk of a receiver is simply preposterous. I have not put myself to any trouble to correct the report, because we have so little occasion for credit that it is really immaterial what is said. Such reports are simply annoying and unpleasant, and that is all."

It was rumored yesterday that the East Tennessee road, pending the settlement of the question of its entrance to the Union depot, was making arrangements with the Metropolitan Street railroad to transfer all its passengers and baggage to and from the East Tennessee shops, near Pryor street, and Kiser's new building, corner of Pryor and Hunter streets. The ground floor of that building will be rented by the East Tennessee for waiting and baggage rooms, and the "finest ticket office in the south." This arrangement, it is said, will go into effect in case an entrance to the depot is refused.

Major W. F. Shellman, traffic manager of the Central road, was in the city on business yesterday.

In April, 1889, a ticket was purchased at Blue Rapids, Kas., by a passenger who desired to travel over the Union and Central Pacific lines to San Francisco. The ticket was not signed and was only used for a part of the way, when it was sold to a scalper. The ticket broker resold it to a man named Campbell, who used it to Salt Lake and sold it again to a scalper, from whom E. H. Drummond bought it. Drummond traveled past Ogden with it, when the Central Pacific conductor took the ticket from him and put him off the train, believing his ticket to be a scalped one. Suit was brought in Drummond's name by the American Ticket Brokers' Association against the Southern Pacific Company for $10,000. A verdict for the plaintiff amounting to $115.70 was awarded by the superior court of Utah. The supreme court of Utah has now reversed the decision of the lower court and ordered judgment to be entered for the Southern Pacific Company. This is a very severe blow to the scalperbo rs, as it gives to the man who rides on a scalped ticket no redress in case he is put off the train on which he is traveling.

An act amending the charter of the Macon and Birmingham railroad has just passed the Alabama legislature, compelling the road, in its extension from LaGrange to Birmingham, to build through the center of, or within a mile of, the town of Roanoke, provided the mayor and council and citizens of the town shall donate to the railroad company the right of way through the town and give sufficient land for depot and railroad purposes.

Passenger train No. 52, on the Louisville and Nashville, in charge of Conductor White and Engineer Henry Marks with engine No. 252, recently made the run of 164 miles between Evansville, Ind, and East St. Louis, in four hours and twenty minutes, making forty-six stops. Less the time in making stops, this is an average of fifty-two miles per hour.

The greatest railway mileage in any state of the union will be found in Illinois, namely, 10,197 miles. The indebtedness against this mileage is $1,955,698,274, or one-fifth the total railway indebtedness of the United States. The net earnings show but $2,237 per mile of road, or about 1 per cent upon the total investment. The total income for the year ending June 30, 1890, was $65,500,000.

The bright spot in the railway horoscope at present appears to be in the sunny south, and while nearly all northern states seem bent on doing everything within their power to retard railway progress and even to confiscate the property which has done more than ought else to make them the prosperous commonwealths which they stand today, it is cheering to note that the new south is crying hands off against any measure that attacks the vested rights of railway properties or that attempts to discourage the investment of capital to develop their material resources. It is interesting to note in this connection, says The Railway Age, that nearly half the railway construction last year was south of the Mason and Dixon line, and the increase in wealth, commercial supremacy and political power which this portends it would be well for the demagogues and malcontents to take into calculation. The new south proclaims against the communism of grangers or any other class that would antagonize interests of the capital which has brought to them a new era of prosperity.

The Savannah, Griffin and North Alabama railroad has ordered steel rails for relaying its track from Sharpsburg to Griffin, a distance of about thirty-two miles.

Bills have been introduced in the Alabama legislature incorporating the Alabama Northern Railway Company and the Florida and Chattanooga Railroad Company.

THE SIGNAL SYSTEM.

Instructions for Using the New Apparatus for the Police Service.

The police signal system will be in operation this week.

It is all completed now except the distribution of the batteries of the several stations, and these will be begun today.

Chief Connolly has had printed a lot of cards with the location of the stations, and instructions for using the apparatus.

Here are the instructions. They will be of interest to citizens generally, as well as to the departmen:

INSTRUCTIONS.

Turn the pointer to the desired signal, pull down the lever and let go.

The ringing of the bell in the signal box indicates the transmission of the signal to headquarters. If at any time the signal-box bell does not ring for the transmission of a signal, it indicates that the line is interrupted, and officers must report that fact promptly to headquarters, from the nearest private telephone.

Two blows will be struck on the box bell immediately after the receipt of a signal if headquarters desire to communicate with an officer by telephone. These two blows, when sent out by the operator, will reach the box within two seconds after it has completed its signal, and officers must listen for them every time they transmit a signal. When the two-blow signal is received by an officer at a box, he will take down the telephone and "Hello" to headquarters for instructions.

The bell in the signal box is silent after the transmission of a signal, if headquarters does not wish to communicate with an officer.

Should an officer wish to use the telephone to headquarters, he will turn the pointer in the box to "telephone" on the dial, pull down the lever and let go, take up the 'phone and listen for the operator.

Officers' keys will open the signal box door and also transmit the "wagon" signal without trapping, if used in the citizens' key-hole. Officers, however, will not use the citizens' key-hole except under urgent circumstances.

Citizens' keys can only be used in the citizens' key-hole and summon the wagon. When used they will be "trapped," and must be taken out by the officer first using the box, or by the patrol wagon officer, and returned to the key-holder.

To the Invalid.

Life without health is not a pleasure, but a burden. Many are sufferers who would give all to be well, still they fail to give attention to so-called minor troubles. Rectal diseases (piles, fistula, etc.) are a fruitful cause of the long list of "incurables." These diseases are regarded by the majority as only causing pain and not having any effect upon the health. A greater mistake cannot be made, for no one who has piles, fistula or any of these diseases can long enjoy good health. It is not only dangerous but the height of folly to put off the treatment of any of these diseases hoping to get well, for they will not; but you run the risk of a serious impairment of health which may end in a condition incurable. For years this class of disease received no attention from the profession, and therefore the treatment was painful and unsatisfactory. It was left to a few to study the causes and improve the treatment, and thereby make themselves benefactors for all ages.

I have given years to the study of rectal diseases, their cure, etc., and as a result can offer you the latest and most improved treatment. My treatment is the result of my experience, together with others, and is verified by actual results. No harsh measures are used; no knife, ligature or caustic, and no loss of time from business or interference with pleasure. My methods will stand the closest scrutiny, and I court your investigation. If you are interested, I will gladly give you any information you may wish. If you are skeptical, I can give you references that will satisfy you. If you want to investigate, write me. Respectfully,

KIRK'S AMERICAN FAMILY SOAP

BEST FOR GENERAL HOUSEHOLD USE.

There must be some reason for it

We never have compelled anyone to use Pearline. We'd like to, but it isn't feasible. Besides, it isn't necessary. Millions use Pearline, and have tested and proved it. It's too old to be unknown, if it were a fraud, but where is the thing as popular and yet so young? If you know Pearline, you know the reason. In all washing and cleaning, there's nothing that saves as much labor and does as much work. It costs no more than common soap and is more economical. Reasons enough for most women; think, are they not good enough for you?

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, do the honest thing—send it back. 176 JAMES PYLE, New York.

ATLANTA, GA., MARCH 11, 1891.

Well Done!

The action of the Neal Loan and Banking Company in subscribing $500 to the Grady hospital fund was graceful and timely.

We must complete the needed subscription without delay. Atlanta must have the hospital. It is a necessity, and will be the crowning glory of our city.

Messrs. T. B. Neal, E. H. Thornton and the stockholders of the Neal Loan and Banking Company have shown our wealthy corporations and firms how to secure this splendid charity. They have gone down into their pockets and made a princely donation. That is the way to do it. We have any number of big corporations and firms, and wealthy individuals who can do as well. Let us hear from them at once.

And the railroads? The hospital will benefit them more than any other interest or class. They should subscribe liberally. They cannot afford to stand back.

Think the matter over, gentlemen, and aid President Hirsch and his co-workers in securing for Atlanta this crowning blessing. It is not charity alone; it is a necessity!

Let Them Keep on Shopping.

Mr. Chauncey Depew falls into line with the republican organs, and claims that the defeat of his party last fall was due to the false cry that the McKinley tariff had increased prices.

This slushy talk will not impress anybody. Tom Reed, who is nothing if not bold, did not hesitate to explain the defeat by saying: "The shopping women did it!"

There is not a little truth in Mr. Reed's explanation. The average American housewife is not going to stand any tariff nonsense. When she starts out for a day's shopping and finds prices increased 15 per cent, it is useless to talk to her about protecting our industries. Nor will it do to argue with her that the new tariff has not increased the cost of living. She knows to a cent what her outfit cost six months ago, and what it costs now. She knows all about the rise in china, tinware and other household necessities.

Undoubtedly, the shopping women stirred up the successful revolt against McKinleyism. For the first time in their lives they plunged into the discussion of the tariff question. They talked it over around their firesides and made it a burning issue. They aroused their husbands, brothers, fathers and sons from their lethargy and sent them forth to stamp the condemnation of the American home upon the un-American system of an un-American party.

All hail to these shopping women! They have done such noble service for the republic that any patriotic citizen will feel like begging them to keep on shopping. But there is an obstacle in the way. With our pockets drained by the robber tariff, it is no easy matter to furnish these fair crusaders with the sinews of war for their campaign. Yet, this should not cause us to stint the praise so justly deserved by our allies of the shopping brigade.

A System in Road-Making.

The road question has been an open one in Georgia for years past, and is being generally discussed at this time. Indeed, it is a live issue in every section of the country; but very few of the good suggestions made have had practical application. In this connection a volume entitled "A Move for Better Roads," which has just been issued in Philadelphia, presents some valuable information.

Until road-making and road-working are brought down to a system, they will never amount to much. It is to the lack of system that the roads of Georgia are no better than they are, and this is the cause of the complaints made of the bad condition of the roads in nearly every county in the state. In this work on road-making there is a contribution from Major George B. Fleece, of Memphis, which suggests a system that contains some excellent features. Valuable points may be gathered from the following extracts:

A board of road commissioners, three in number, in every county. They should meet within ten days after their election or appointment, and proceed methodically, as follows:

1. Elect a competent engineer of county roads and bridges, who may be one of the board; also a chairman and secretary and treasurer, the latter to be combined.

2. The engineer should be required to proceed without delay to prepare an estimate of the cost per mile of grading, bridging and graveling county roads, also the cost of repairing county roads not to be graveled. This report should be rendered to an adjourned meeting not longer than thirty days later.

3. Upon data furnished by the engineer's report the rate of road tax should be fixed and the work of the year determined. Authority to levy such tax might be conferred on the county court.

The salaries of commissioners may be fixed by the county court, and that of the engineer by the commissioners. Each commissioner should be required to give proper bond and to subscribe to an oath of office, embracing prominently that he has not influenced or attempted to influence his own election by any promise to do or not to do anything for any person whatever, or any section, entering upon his term perfectly free and untrammeled to do his duty to the public without fear or favor.

The engineer of roads and bridges should have authority to amend or change locations, establish grades, alignment of roads, condemn material for construction, such as earth, timber, stone or gravel, under proper restrictions and provisions for the compensation of owners. He should have police powers to arrest and report violators of road laws, to appoint deputies, and exercise all other legal powers conferred on him by the board.

Major Fleece submits, further, that road commissioners should, when they demand, have the free use of county convicts in any work for the county undertaken by them; but the best of all is the general, concise system he suggests, the imperative duties he would impose upon the men who have the management of roadwork, which has always been done in a haphazard sort of way, without any system whatever. It is folly for the people of any state to work the roads superficially and at their convenience, and then complain of them afterwards. It should be one of their first and most important duties to organize this work and get it in good shape, mapping out well in advance, as above suggested, the lines on which it is to be carried out. Only in this way can the question of good roads be settled to the satisfaction of the people.

Silver in the West and East.

"If the east will not give us justice, and the south stands by us, we will allow the south to make our tariff laws for us!"

This significant remark is credited by a Washington correspondent to Senator Stewart, of Nevada. It is plain that the free coinage of silver is looming up as a paramount issue in the west. The south is also ready to fight it out on that line, but there is no reason for leaving out all the eastern states in our plan of campaign for next year. Indeed, it would be rash policy to depend entirely upon a united west and south. It is by no means certain that they will be solid. We may lose Maryland, and some of the western states are uncertain.

The thing to do is to begin an early silver agitation in the east. It is true that the gold-bugs have their headquarters in that section, but the masses of workingmen there will snow them under with their ballots if they can be convinced that free coinage and an expansive currency will in some measure lighten their burdens. When the facts of the case are fully presented and fairly discussed in the eastern states, it is safe to say that the masses will be as clamorous for free coinage as they are in the west.

It is no time to talk about a union of the west and south. What is wanted is the solid organization of the democracy everywhere, north, south, east and west. Free coinage will be a plank in the next national democratic platform if it is thoroughly discussed before the people.

And it will win, along with tariff reform.

The Library Subscription.

The committee will go out this morning to solicit subscriptions to purchase the Armstrong collection for the Young Men's Library. It is an exceptionally good committee and most of the $5,000 required will doubtless be subscribed before the day closes.

There is one thing which the public should bear in mind. Although maintained by subscription, the Young Men's Library is open to visitors, and boys and girls who are unable to buy books may go there and read. In subscribing for a fund to add 4,000 volumes to the library, you help these boys and girls. Remember this when you put down your subscription. Remember also the easy terms—one-tenth on the 1st of April and one-tenth every month until the amount is paid. On this plan almost anybody can afford to subscribe liberally, and in so good a cause the people will give cheerfully.

There will be plenty of chances to subscribe in case the committee does not get around to everybody. Lists will be left with the bank tellers and at the hotels and newspaper offices. Headquarters will be at the office of Mr. G. V. Gress, on Broad street.

Halstead and Free Coinage.

Perhaps one of the greatest men in the United States is Editor Murat Halstead, who formerly had charge of The Cincinnati Commercial Gazette. It is true that Mr. Halstead no longer has charge of The Commercial Gazette. He has been called and elected to take charge of a country paper in Brooklyn, and he is doing his editing with an energy and an alacrity that are purely western inventions. It is probably true that no suburb of an American city ever had a more thoroughly edited paper than the one which Mr. Halstead pervades.

Mr. Halstead is, in fact, a man that runs over, bearing, in that respect, some resemblance to a tea kettle. Yet there is some difference. When a tea kettle runs over it puts out its fire, whereas Mr. Halstead adds to his. He is tremendously fired up, for instance, over the silver question. He has got the idea that free coinage is undemocratic, and he is working it for all it is worth. He not only promulgates it in his country newspaper in Brooklyn, but he sends it off by telegraph to Deacon Richard Smith's paper in Cincinnati, so that we have in two alleged newspapers a conglomeration of what Mr. Murat Halstead is supposed to think about the silver question.

His ignorance has a vital quality that is touching. He walloped up the greenback craze in the west, and now he is trying to swallow the dose that the gold-bugs and mugwumps have prepared for the country. He knows its futility, and yet he is endeavoring to earn his salary with an earnestness that is seldom witnessed on earth.

Among other things, Mr. Halstead remarks that the free coinage of silver would drive gold out of this country. This is the Larry Godkin idea. Why would gold go out of the country, and what would it go for? It is understood, of course, that the mugwumps will hoard all they can get—that is to say, they will turn all their currency into gold and bury it in their several and various trash piles. This is the idea; but why should a stalwart and muscular man like Mr. Halstead fall into it? He is not a fool, and he knows the people are not fools. Why should he fall into the crazy idea that the people are to export their gold because of the free coinage of silver? This is mugwumpery in finance, and it is the muggiest kind of mugwumpery.

Mr. Halstead goes so far as to say that "the Bank of France would have the same show for the exchange of her silver for our paper that the Colorado miners would have, and in the struggle for our gold the price of our silver would go down."

These are Mr. Halstead's words. We have quoted him exactly. What he really says is this—that France, in order to get American gold, would sell her legal tender silver at a sacrifice of 7 per cent. Why should she make such a sacrifice when she could sell her silver to India for British gold, dollar for dollar? We have seen much to admire in Mr. Halstead, but why should he be a crank on this question merely because John Sherman has sold himself out to Wall street, body and soul? There may be an undemocratic side to the silver question, but that is no reason why Mr. Halstead should play the fool. That free coinage would hurt Wall street, and Wall street's speculative interest is undeniable and has never been denied. Nobody wants to deny it. The main thing is that the great body of the people will be helped—and right here is the conflict. It is the people against Wall street.

But when Mr. Halstead says that France, or any other European country, is going to sacrifice its legal tender silver in order to get American gold, he talks worse than nonsense. We have hopes that he will come out boldly, as he did in the Foraker forgery, and admit that he has been grossly deceived.

MR. T. B. REED'S "magnificent congress" threatens to overshadow all the others. We shall have Reed denying before long that he was speaker, but if he denies it through his nose the people won't believe him.

EDITOR WALSH, of The Augusta Chronicle, announces that "the time has come in the south when the people must have cheaper papers." Somehow or other, The Chronicle never discovered this demand until THE CONSTITUTION reduced its rates. It is surprising how easily we find out things after they are already discovered.

IN ORDER for our copyright bill to become a law, England will have to go into the protection business. Is England prepared to do this? As we used to say during the war, "not much in Tennessee."

WHAT HAS Brother Blaine done with his so-called Brazilian treaty?

WE BELIEVE that Governor Hill knows what he is doing. What does Editor Dana believe?

IN MONDAY'S New York Tribune Editor Watterson has a long and a candid interview. He did not allow the reporter to print his letter to Mr. Cleveland in favor of the free coinage of silver. This omission is very queer.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

FIVE HUNDRED Christian ladies in Philadelphia have petitioned the directors of the Academy of Fine Arts, protesting against the hanging of nude pictures. The directors are in a quandary. They do not wish to disoblige the ladies, and on the other hand they know that all over the civilized world the nude in art is admired, and no objection is made to it anywhere else except in America. A lively argument is going on, and the result is in doubt. The weight of authority seems to be to the effect that a nude picture is not necessarily indecent. It all depends upon the subject and the way it is treated. Many nude pictures and statues have been favorites for centuries, and even the most prudish have never protested against their exhibition.

THE NASHVILLE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE says of "Lectures and Essays," a popular book by Rev. W. J. Scott, one of THE CONSTITUTION'S contributors: "The presumptions are all in favor of the literary merit of any production that comes from the pen of Dr. Scott. There are only a few preachers that have anything like his wide and accurate acquaintance with the classical prose and poetical works of the English tongue. In the volume before us he discusses 'Sidney Lanier,' 'Edgar Allan Poe,' 'A Biological Thermidor,' 'The Cardinal and the Preacher,' and various other interesting characters and themes. We are perfectly sincere when we say that the book has high merit." Less than fifty copies of the first edition now remain unsold, and a copy will be sent postpaid to any address for $1.20 by The Constitution Publishing Company.

"DON'T PASS around the hat for me after I am dead," was the best thing that General Sherman ever said. With all his faults, he had the spirit of true independence.

THE HOUSTON POST says that men who have studied the caucuses say it is simply a question of arithmetical progression. Five will control eight, eight will control fourteen, fourteen will control twenty-six, twenty-six will control fifty-one, fifty-one will control the house of representatives, when six have been excused on account of business.

THE ROUND TABLE, published at Dallas Tex., is an attractive literary monthly, full of good matter. It is a small magazine, and is edited, published and managed entirely by ladies. The fact that it has nearly completed its second volume shows that it is making its way.

POINTS FROM THE PRESS.

The Ohio excursionists were royally entertained at Fort Valley. Editor Kersh invited all of them to his office, which may be remembered by the Georgia Weekly Press Association, and made a five-column speech to them, nonpareil measure.

Editor Shaver, of The Chattanooga Evening News, was in the city yesterday. The News has prospered under his editorial management and is now one of the very best papers in Tennessee.

Editor Clarke, who had been asked to address the press association at the Georgia Chautauqua, has sold his speech to a trial justice for $7. Twenty-five years ago Clarke did not have a dollar "to his name." His friends can congratulate him now.

The Chicago Herald says that "from her eminence Chicago has been watching the literary growth of the south." This is news. Has that "world's fair tower" been completed?

Editor Shackleford has moved into his own new brick story building and has celebrated the great event in rhyme:

How beautiful our office looks,
How fair by night and day!
No dead subscribers on our books—
We're here, and here to stay!

Editor Alexander will revive The Harmony Grove Age next week. When he does, the people should give it their hearty support. It has always been a bright newspaper.

The Buford Gazette is now an eight-page paper and is brimful of interesting news.

Clem Moore is infusing new life into The Crawfordville Democrat. He ranks with the youngest editors in the state, but he is fast earning the title of "one of the best." The people of that section should appreciate his efforts to give them a first-class newspaper.

The Atlanta Deutsche Zeitung is just out. A careful perusal of its columns (it is printed in German) convinces us that it will "fill a long felt want" and will meet with a liberal patronage.

The Leading Southern Newspaper.

From The Dalton, Ga., Argus.

THE ATLANTA DAILY CONSTITUTION, recognized everywhere as the leading southern newspaper, and as typical of southern progress and growth, has made another bold stroke of advancement in its reduction of rates. The advancement of THE CONSTITUTION into the forerank of untried experiments has always been attended by brilliant achievements, and this last is no less complimentary to its liberal management than to the condition of the section which makes it justifiable.

HE PAYS IT BACK

AND WRITES TO SENATOR BROWN FOR A PHOTOGRAPH.

Professor Peacock, a Georgia Boy, Educated by the Charles-McDonald-Brown Fund, Discharges His Obligation.

As is well known, Governor Brown some years ago, after the death of his son, Charles McDonald Brown, made a donation of $50,000, which his son, if living, would have inherited, to the State University at Athens.

The fund was named in honor of the deceased son, who was himself for a time a student there.

The interest annually, $3,500, which is paid by the state for fifty years, is loaned to young men of promise, who are unable to educate themselves, with the pledge of honor and the legal obligation on their part that as soon as they make the money to spare after their graduation they will pay back the amount to the university with 4 per cent interest. This privilege is confined exclusively to young men of merit, who are neither able nor are their parents able to educate them.

When Governor Brown was a penniless youth he was very anxious to have the benefit of a collegiate education, but on account of his poverty he was unable to obtain such an education. After he had reached a position and had made money he remembered the class of young men to which he belonged when growing up, and made this very valuable contribution to the education of that class.

The letter of Professor Peacock, who was one of the beneficiaries of the Charles-McDonald-Brown scholarship fund, shows the workings of the system. He graduated, has gone to Texas, has made money, and sends back a check to the treasurer of the State University for the amount due by him. He writes Governor Brown a letter of thanks for the benefit he has received under his donation, informing him that his brother is now receiving the same benefit.

The money which was used by Professor Peacock when at college was part of the interest on the fund given by Governor Brown to the university. It has now been paid back to the university with 4 per cent interest, and becomes part of the principal of the donation, thus augmenting the amount to be loaned each year.

If the young men who avail themselves of the benefit of this fund are generally as prompt and honorable as Professor Peacock, the fund in the hands of the university will soon grow to a very large amount and educate a very large number of young men. As it is at present, the donation of Governor Brown keeps about twenty young men constantly at college at Athens and Dahlonega. One thousand dollars of the fund annually goes to young men being educated at Dahlonega; the other $2,500 to young men at Athens.

The following is Professor Peacock's letter and Governor Brown's reply:

SOUTHEAST-TEXAS MALE AND FEMALE COLLEGE.—(Wesley Peacock, B. Ph., principal of High School department, professor of French and German)—JASPER, Tex., March 5, 1891.—Hon. Joseph E. Brown, Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sir: By yesterday's mail I transmitted a check to Mr. A. L. Hull, secretary of board of trustees, etc., University of Georgia, by which I have liquidated the remainder of my pecuniary indebtedness to the Charles-McDonald-Brown scholarship fund.

I went to the university from Thomasville, Ga., in 1885, and graduated in 1887.

If one were to take the trouble to look over the records of the university during '86 and '87 he could learn from the class-stand, etc., whether the fund in my case had been properly appreciated.

A younger brother, also a beneficiary of the same fund, is now at the university, and will graduate in June next. We shall both owe to your generosity a great deal of whatever success we may achieve in life.

Now, I want to ask of you the favor of a photograph or an engraving of yourself, upon which I'd be glad you would inscribe your autograph; and, as you have many similar requests, I'd like to refund the cost in stamps. Yours very truly,
WESLEY PEACOCK.

Senator Brown's answer was:

ATLANTA, Ga., March 9, 1891.—Professor Wesley Peacock, Jasper, Texas.—Dear Sir: I have the honor and pleasure to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of March 5th, and note contents.

You inform me that you have sent to Mr. A. L. Hull, treasurer of the board of trustees, Athens, Ga., your check which fully satisfies the demands of the university against you on account of your participation in the Charles-McDonald-Brown scholarship fund.

This is highly creditable to you, and it shows that you are making a good start in the world at least, as it has been but a short period since your graduation until you have made surplus funds necessary to pay off your debt entirely.

The amount was for your benefit, and has now been paid back with interest to the university, and will aid in giving the necessary facilities to some other young man, and I trust in all cases it may be placed in the hands of those as worthy as the result has shown to have been true in your case.

I am also glad to hear that your brother is receiving the benefit of the fund, and trust he may be eminently successful.

I note your remarks that I send you a photograph or engraving of myself. I have no photograph convenient at present, but I send you by this mail a steel plate engraving which has a facsimile of my own handwriting under the likeness. I have also written my signature with my own hand on the back.

Always wishing you prosperity and happiness, I am very truly, etc., JOSEPH E. BROWN.

The Billion Dollar Congress.

From The New York Sun.

The fifty-first congress, from beginning to end, has proceeded more in the spirit of a Dutch kirmess than like a body of trustees charged with the control of hundreds of millions of dollars not their own. It has been no ordinary season of extravagance and prodigality. It has been a rake-hell orgy of expenditure.

Two democratic members of the committee on appropriations have prepared careful estimates of the aggregate appropriations during the two sessions of the fifty-first congress. At the first session, for the fiscal year ending next June, the grand total was $464,542,510. Mr. Dockery, of Missouri, figures the regular and permanent annual appropriations for the second session at $544,827,961, making the aggregate for the republican fifty-first congress $1,009,270,471.

* * *

A billion dollars in two years of unbridled extravagance! Three hundred million dollars more than the average of the eight preceding congresses, with the permanent annual appropriations for interest on the public debt and so forth decreasing steadily all the time! About half a million dollars for every week day in the year in excess of the needs of government, as shown by the experience of the past sixteen years! Such is the monumental record of the congress that went out of existence last Wednesday.

* * *

The billion-dollar congress has swept away the surplus in the treasury, and has made a deficiency inevitable at the end of the next fiscal year. It remains only for the fifty-second congress to follow the example of the forty-fourth, and to avert as far as possible, by rigid economy, the disastrous consequences of the past two years of criminal recklessness and unparalleled folly.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Dr. Armstrong's Library.

EDITOR CONSTITUTION: No private library in Georgia contains such a rare collection of books as that of Dr. J. G. Armstrong. The books must have cost more than $10,000, and they are more valuable now than when they were bought. Some of them are out of print. For instance, he has "The Secret of Hegel," that has been out of print twenty years. It is one of the most entertaining philosophic books ever written. At the time it was published, interest in Hegel's philosophy was not great in England, and hence but a small edition was published, and not much demand was there even for that small edition. But for the past twenty years, interest in the philosophy of Hegel has greatly increased, through the influence of Dr. Thomas Hill Green, at the University of Oxford; Principal John Caird, at the University of Glasgow, and Dr. A. M. Fairbairn, president of Mansfield College. This one book, "The Secret of Hegel," could not be bought now at any price. There are not a dozen copies of it in America. There are, in this remarkable library, 1,000 books which cost at least $5 each, and as the years pass they will grow in value. They are on lines of thought of perpetual interest. In the years opening before us they are to be of much greater interest than ever before. The age of mercantilism through which we are passing, and to the closing years of which we have come, is sure to be succeeded by an era of thinking. With the incoming of such a time these books will be of incalculable value. The Young Men's Library is the place for them. The very names of the volumes and the names of the authors on the backs of the volumes will stimulate inquiry and research. They ought to have a section apart, and be called the Armstrong collection.
Atlanta, Ga. J. W. LEE.

GENERAL GEORGIA GOSSIP.

In the latter part of January THE CONSTITUTION published an account of the death of a negro woman in Emanuel county, and the trouble which followed the disposal of the corpse. It seems to be a pretty live corpse in that section still, as The Swainsboro Pine Forest is still publishing communications from indignant citizens in regard to it. The woman died on the 26th of January. She was poor, and no one wanted to shoulder the expense of her burial. Several citizens were indirectly concerned in it, however, and hence the trouble. It was stated then that the corpse had been left all night in the yard of Mr. E. J. Faircloth. That gentleman denies this in last week's issue of the Swainsboro paper, and says that the corpse was left in an old house near his dwelling, where it remained so long that it became offensive and attracted his attention. He went to the house, made the ghastly discovery, and had the body interred at his own expense. He feels that an injustice has been done him in the matter; hence his card at this late day.

Several petitions have been circulated for abolishing the county court of Emanuel county, but the citizens appear to be divided as to the wisdom of such a proceeding. It is held by some that the court is detrimental to the best interests of the people, and by others that it is a great institution. The lawyers are taking an active interest in the fight, which seems to be well under way.

The verdicts of coroners' juries are not always in keeping with the facts, and are often grim jokes on dead men. This has been frequently the case in the rural districts of Georgia. But South Carolina can now move up to the head of the class. A Savannah man who returned last week from a trip up the Charleston and Savannah road tells a pretty good story of the verdict of a coroner's jury in a trial that took place a short while ago in one of the coast counties of South Carolina. A man was found dead in the road with a bullet hole through his head, and his mule standing in the road near by. Evidently a murder had been committed. A pistol was found in one of the dead man's pockets, but none of the chambers had been discharged, so it could not have been suicide. The coroner was notified, and proceeded to impanel a jury of the negroes who gathered to the spot. A full investigation was made, without throwing any light on the crime, however, and the case was given to the jury for its decision. Naturally a verdict that the deceased came to his death by a pistol shot at the hands of unknown parties was expected. The jury retired to a neighboring fence corner, and after long and serious deliberations returned with a verdict which the foreman handed to the coroner. It read: "We, the jury, find the deceased guilty of carrying concealed weapons."

The average rainfall per annum for Troup county is 56 inches. For 1890 the rainfall was only 42.21 inches, or 13.79 inches below the average. For the year 1891, up to Monday morning, the 9th instant, the rainfall amounted to the unprecedented amount of 23.90 inches, considerably surpassing all previous records for the same length of time. During February there were sixteen rainy days, and it rained about every day last week. During the month of February the thermometer played all sorts of pranks, ranging from 23 degrees, the lowest, to 78 degrees, the highest temperature, a variation of 55 degrees during the short month. The oldest inhabitants are nonplussed over the weather, and cannot recall anything like it in the past history of the country.

Mr. Samuel Baker, who was severely cut in a fight with Samuel Geiger at Micanopy, Fla., recently, is well-known at Warrenton, says The Clipper. He is a nephew of Dr. J. T. Baker, of that place, and has a brother there. The telegraphic account of the fight, in which knives played such a fatal part, merely stated that the trouble was the result of an old grudge. It appears, from the story told by Baker's friends in Warrenton, that this "grudge" had its origin five years ago. Baker and Geiger were rivals for the hand of a young lady, and were bitterest enemies on that account. Baker was the successful suitor and won the girl. Geiger never forgave him, but for five year has tracked his footsteps and made his life as miserable as he could, threatening him and otherwise trying to incite a quarrel. The result was the duel with knives, in which both men were literally hacked to pieces.

The case of Mr. John W. Hawkins, of Oglethorpe county, is a peculiar one, and has excited the sympathy of the citizens. Some time ago his two little children died, and his mind gave way under his grief. He became possessed with the idea that they would return to him, and evinced unmistakable signs of lunacy. A jury was impaneled to inquire into his case. He was adjudged a lunatic, and will be sent to the asylum. He is a very young man, who had a bright future before him.

Quite a strange freak of lightning was witnessed out at the home of Mr. William Henry Morton, in Athens, last Sunday. It was during the rain storm that came up about noon, when a flash of lightning struck the rod over the house of Mr. Morton, melting it into smithereens instantaneously. The current was not content with this, but leaped to the tin gutter and melted it all around the large house, pouring the molten metal in heavy streams to the ground below. But this is not all. The lightning flashed through one corner of the house, paid a visit to the people in the room below, ran out along an iron pipe to a tin basin on the back piazza, and melted it completely, and followed an iron pipe to the well, full fifty feet from the house. The damage to the woodwork of the house was very slight, but all of the meltal with which the flame came in contact was melted instantaneously.

It seems that all the "mad" dogs are confined to the rural districts. We never see them in the cities. At present Oglethorpe county is suffering from their ravages and a war of extermination has been inaugurated. Some time ago a mule belonging to Mr. W. W. Culbreath, a farmer of Crawford, was bitten by a mad dog. A few days afterwards the animal evinced unmistakable signs of madness, and died aftere great suffering, which was painful to witness. As the dog in question confined himself principally to stock, other parties are looking for their animals to die. It has been suggested that every dog in the county be killed, but the suggestion will hardly be carried out.

PEOPLE HERE AND THERE.

VICTORIA.—A sunset hue is said to have deepened perceptibly on the august nasal organ of Queen Victoria. The Scotch distillery in which her majesty is interested is a great success, and the brand of whisky manufactured there is very popular. Of course, it is not suggested for a moment that there is any connection between the two interesting facts.

CARROLL.—J. W. Carroll, of New York, claims to be the owner of the third largest diamond in the world. It weighs 115 carats and is valued at $70,000. The story runs that R. S. Lawrence, of Colorado, purchased it in London a year or so ago, and that it then passed into the hands of Edward Bruce, formerly secretary of the Baltimore and Ohio Telegraph Company, from whom Mr. Carroll secured it.

SPURGEON.—Mrs. Spurgeon, the wife of the great London preacher, though an invalid, is a fairy godmother to poor ministers. She sends gifts of clothing to their wives, which a small society under her supervision has fashioned, and to the pastors themselves she makes gifts of books. During the past year 6,916 volumes, making a total of 115,262 volumes given since the book fund was established, have been distributed among 500 ministers of different denominations, including 182 clergy of the Church of England; 6,565 have been distributed in England, and 7,000 in foreign lands. The remarkable part of the work is that it is carried on single-handed by this invalid lady.

D'UZES.—The Duchess d'Uzes, who spent a fortune in the bad cause of Boulanger, is ill in Paris with fever and ague. Her friends hope that while she is about it she will shake Boulanger.

BLAINE.—Mr. Blaine is reported to be growing morose and grumpy, in which case there is danger that he may forget himself some day and speak his mind to the president.

PLEADING ILLEGALITY.

THE GEORGIA RAILROAD OBJECTS TO PAYING COUNTY TAXES.

An Interesting Document Filed in the Clerk's Office Yesterday Morning Regarding Railroad Tax Bill.

A plea of illegality by the Georg a Railroad and Banking Company was filed in the clerk's office yesterday.

The company objects to paying the county tax assessed in accordance with the provisions of a bill passed in 1889.

Quite a number of roads have demurred from the payment of the taxes, and fi. fas have been issued by Tax Collector A. P. Stewart, in accordance with instructions from Hon. W. A. Wright, comptroller general of the state of Georgia.

FIGHTING THE FI. FA.

On January 5th a fi. fa. was issued by Tax Collector Stewart, and placed in the hand of the sheriff of Fulton county for collection.

The amount of the fi. fa. was $12.89, taxes on net earnings, as prescribed in the bill of 1889, on the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company for 1890.

The sheriff levied on a walnut bookcase and and an office desk, for the forthcoming of which property the company gave a bond of $30, pending a contest of the legality of the claim.

CLAIMS OF DEFENDANTS.

In the plea of illegality, filed yesterday morning, the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company, through its president, Charles H. Phinizy, sets up the claim that the charter of the company was granted by an act of the Georgia legislature, December 31, 1833, in section 15 of which act it was provided that the stock and branches be subject to not more than one-half of 1 per cent per annum of the net proceeds of the investment.

The stock of this defendant was subscribed under that charter, and on the faith of its provisions the corporators accepted the act of incorporation and expended the stock subscribed in the construction and equipment of the road and its branches, which provisions have never been repealed or changed by consent of the defendant, who has continuously enjoyed the rights and franchises.

CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS.

The company further claims that the tax for which the writ was issued and brought to be collected, by virtue of section 4, of an act providing for a system of taxation on railroad property in each county in the state through which the road passes, approved October 16, 1889, is a tax upon the net earnings of defendant in excess of one-half of 1 per cent. There is no valid law under which the writ is collectable, and that the act of 1889 is of no effect so far as it attempts to repeal a portion of the charter of said defendant or to impose any other tax greater than one-half of 1 per cent per annum on the net earnings of defendant's investments in capital stock.

Further, that the act is in conflict with the first paragraph of section 10, of first article of the constitution of the United States, in that it impairs the obligation of contract.

The plan concludes with the allegation that the only tax that can be lawfully levied is on the net earnings of the dependant, and is ½ per cent payable to the state of Georgia, which has been duly assessed and paid for the year 1890.

Will Increase Its Circulation.

From The LaGrange, Ga., Graphic.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION has made a sweeping reduction in its subscription rates. This puts THE CONSTITUTION on an equal footing with the great metropolitan dailies, and will result in a great increase in its circulation. This is the day of cheap newspapers, and THE CONSTITUTION has done well to meet the popular demand.

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN HOME.

An Elegant and Commodious Building Secured.

One of the most active and earnest of all the public charities in Atlanta is the Woman's Christian Home.

The ladies in charge of this institution have done God's service in ministering to the wants of the homeless and destitute. The ladies have secured the commodious building near the corner of Whitehall and Peters streets, and long the residence of Hon. A. Weldon Mitchell, into which quarters the home will be removed from its present location, No. 49 West Peters street, about April 1st.

The Woman's Christian Home was organized by a band of devoted Christian ladies more than five years ago, and has accomplished an incalculable amount of good during the years of its existence.

It has not only cared for orphaned children and widowed women, but has secured homes and honorable employment for many women and girls who would have otherwise been turned out upon the world homeless and destitute.

In their new quarters the ladies will add a department which is to be a boarding house for women and girls who are dependent on their own efforts for a support.

In addition to this they will establish a "noon rest" for business women and girls, where those who have not time to go to distant homes for dinner, can bring their lunches—or they can obtain them there—and enjoy them in a quiet room furnished with books, music and other attractions.

The ladies will be thankful for any donations received toward furnishing the new home, and it is hoped that the benevolent citizens will contribute liberally toward increasing the sphere of usefulness of this noble institution.

NOBLE WOMEN'S WORK.

They Are Building the Home for the Friendless—A Meeting Yesterday.

The Woman's Industrial Union held a regular monthly meeting at the Young Men's library yesterday.

The entire business transacted was the consideration of arrangements for their new home.

It was decided to dispose of the property on the corner of Ivy and Harris streets for that purpose. As is known, a new building is being erected by the Home for the Friendless and the Industrial Union, and at its completion will be occupied by them jointly. The latter organization has, temporarily, a school for boys at the Berean church, on Berean avenue, and one for girls on Wheat street. The combined attendance is sixty-six. The new quarters will be ready in the fall.

TO VISIT THE SWAMP.

Captain Harry Jackson Left Yesterday With a Party.

Captain Harry Jackson and General P. M. B. Young left yesterday with a party, which included ex-Governor Little, of New Jersey, and several prominent capitalists, for a visit to the Okefenokee swamp. The party travels in Captain Jackson's private car, and expects to be gone about ten days. Mr. A. A. Meyer, Captain Jackson's secretary, also goes with the party.

Another of the party is Engineer Cramer, representing a wealthy land company of Philadelphia. He superintended the drainage of the Disston property in Florida, and his business on this trip is to form an opinion as to the advisability and feasibility of draining the swamp. A number of other gentlemen in the party are interested in the timber growth of the swamp and are expected, after examination, to make a bid for the timber. The party will camp near the swamp and make a thorough personal inspection.

They Want a Sunday Train.

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., March 10.—[Special.]—Solicitor General R. B. Russell is an excellent walker as well as a good solicitor. He left Atlanta Sunday morning, and on arriving at Suwanee no conveyance could be found. He was determined to reach his destination, however, despite the rain which fell thick and fast, and hit the grit, a distance of about ten miles. In this instance the Sunday train for which we have petitioned would have settled the difficulty. The road makes from $3,000 to $5,000 a month, and could easily afford to run a Sunday train, which would not cost exceeding $3.

THE BETTERMENTS

CONSIDERED BEFORE THE COMMISSION YESTERDAY.

The Argument Advanced by the Attorneys on Both Sides and Decesions Rendered by the Commission.

The betterments commission convened in the senate chamber at 9 o'clock yesterday morning for its second day's session.

Chairman Hammond, of the commission, arose with a document in hand and stated that the commission had finally discussed the matter since the previous adjournment, and had decided the motion of the state's attorneys that the plaintiffs amend their declaration or the case be declared dismissed. The opinion in full is as follows:

OPINION ON MOTION TO DISMISS.

"This suit is in favor of the receivers of the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company. They were appointed under a bill filed in the United States circuit court. It was sworn to on the 18th of December, 1890, and the receivers were appointed by United States Judge Pardee, in New Orleans, La., on the 22d of December, 1890. The bill was then filed in the clerk's office on the 31st of December, 1890, though it is said it had been filed on the 20th of December, 1890. It stated that then (18th of December, 1890, complainants knew of no law which would continue the life of the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company beyond the limit of its lease, the 27th of December, 1890. It is claimed that, by expiration of its charter term, said company is dead, and can maintain this suit only by its receivers. The counsel for the state deny that said corporation is dead, and deny that the resolution creating this court authorizes a suit by receivers. They say the suit must be by the lessees of the road, and if not by the lessees, then by said corporation. They say that said corporate life has been continued by two series of legislation of the general assembly—the first, that creating this commission, and the second, dated 27th December, 1890, providing for suits and litigation then pending against said corporation.

"The state's counsel cited Thweat's case, 66 Ga. 673, and Stamps vs. M. & B. R. R. Co., 11 S. E. R., 442 (decided by our supreme court in 1890) as to power of the legislature to change charters.

"In reply plaintiffs' counsel cited code of Ga., sections 1684 and 1688; National bank vs. Colby, 21 Wall R., 614; the bank cases in 8th Ga. and 11th Ga. R.; Munnal vs. Potomac Co.; 8th Peters' R., 281; and as to the effect of expiration of charters, the W. & A. R. R. Co. tax-cases in 54th Ga. R., 423 and 66th Ga. R., 563, as to impairing the obligations of contracts. The state was no party to said bill, and had no notice thereof, until the 23d of December, 1890, and none since, except what comes from the doctrine of lis pendens.

"The state of Georgia can be sued only when authorized by its statutes and as therein authorized. Mason vs. Cooper, superintendent W. & A. R. R., 19th Ga. R., 543; Wallace, superintendent W. & A. R. R. vs. Thomas, 34th Ga. R., 543; Dobbins vs. P. & A. R. R. Co. and W. & A. R. R. Co., garnishee, 37th Ga. R., 240, and Thweat's case, 66th Ga., supra. No general law authorizing such suits. The resolution creating this court does authorize a suit. Its title, the first resolution in two places, its third resolution and its eighth, show that though the word 'lessees' frequently appears therein, it is uniformly coupled with 'The Western and Atlantic Railroad Company,' as synonimous with 'lessees,' and its last resolution in words declares 'that all references in this resolution, (meaning the whole instrument) to the lessees or to the president of the lessees, refer to the present lessee of the Western and Atlantic railroad, whose lease will expire 27th December, 1890.'

"The lease was made to the corporation, it gave the bond, and with it and it only has the state since dealt. The authority to sue is given to the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company and to no one else. The claims and rights mentioned and alluded to are in favor of or against the corporation. The state is one and the corporation the other of the two parties to 'the issue between the lessees (the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company) and the state of Georgia.' (1st resolution.) It is one of 'either party' allowed to except to any decision (10th resolution) and one of 'both parties' to be bound by our decisions. (11th resolution.) Therefore it, and not the individual lessees, must sue under this resolution creating this commission, according to the cases above mentioned.

"Can it sue? We find it unnecessary to give any opinion as to effect of the act of December 26, 1890, allowing suits against the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company then pending to proceed to judgment and execution.

"The dissolution of corporations by expiration of their charters is conceded. Code, section 1684; and also that they may then be represented by receivers. Code, section 1688. Yet that may be prevented by legislative interposition. Robinson vs. Lone, 19 Ga. R., 336 (8 3) 346-347; Foster vs. Essex Bank, 16 Mass. R., 245, 260-273; Crease vs. Babcock, 23 Pick. R., 334-340; McGoon vs. Scales, 9 Wallace R., 23, 26, 81, and National Bank vs. Colby, 21 Wallace R., 614.

"Nor need we decide whether this legislation may be without the consent of the expiring corporation. In this case the resolution was approved on the 22d December, 1890, and was to have no operation unless assented to by the corporation. Its stockholders met and authorized its president to assent, and he did assent, as required by the resolution, (all on said 22d December, 1880), in the name of the corporation, and then this corporation was made. Thus, the corporation, by its own act, contracted that, as to this controversy, it would enter upon litigation which it knew could not be decided until after the expiration of its charter. It contracted that no decision should be made until during 1891, in the summer.

"The resolution enacts that the decision of this court shall be approved or disapproved by the governor, and in case of disapproval he shall file in writing his reasons therefor, and also serve notice on the presisent of the W. & A. R. R. Company, or its attorney.

"Surely, it lives for the purposes of this litigation with the state. If dead, it has neither president nor attorney. Were this dismissed, another suit might be filed at once. But counsel for the state in open court declare that they do not wish to dismiss the case, but only to compel suit by the proper plaintiff.

"Let this opinion be filed, and upon considering the case to dismiss, coupled with the consent of the counsel for the state that the case may proceed in the name of the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company only, it is ordered that unless counsel for plaintiff will consent so to proceed, this case shall be dismissed.

"This 10th March, 1891.

"N. J. HAMMOND, Chairman."

The attorneys for the road concurred in the foregoing, agreeing to drop the use of the receivers' names and substitute therefor the name of the old company.

The attorneys for the state demanded a reservation of the right to plead, should a necessity therefor arise, that Judge Pardee's action in appointing receivers to take charge of the road's affairs had disabled the old company.

After a long discussion of the question between the opposing counsel, the commission took it under advisement and passed the following order, which was agreed to by both sides:

"Counsel for the plaintiff giving notice that they withdraw the names of the receivers as plaintiffs and will proceed in the name of the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company, it is ordered that the case so proceed, counsel for the state consenting to the substitution of the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company in the pending petition in place of the receivers, whose names have been stricken, without reserving any right it has or may have to plead that said company has been disabled by the order of the United States court and its own action touching the proceedings in the court, or in other way from suing the state of Georgia or prosecuting the pending petition.

"N. J. HAMMOND, Chairman."

Major Cumming, for the plaintiffs, opened their case by presenting the report of Messrs. A. L. Harris, W. L. Clarke and J. N. DuBarry, comprising the state's commission, who in 1871 examined the road just previous to its passing into the hands of the plaintiff. It contained an inventory of the road's property as it was turned over to the plaintiff.

This was followed by a report of the joint committee selected by the legislature in 1870, previous to the lease. It showed that the road at that time stood in need of repairs. This was supplemented by a report of the superintendent of the road.

Mr. A. L. Harris was the first, and, in fact, the only witness produced by the plaintiff, as the rest of the time was occupied in his examination. He testified that in or about the year 1869 he was master of transportation and supervisor of the road, and afterwards served as master of trains. He was one of the commissioners aforementioned, and testified that the inventory, as presented, was as nearly correct as possible. He stated that the road was actually in a deplorable condition. He was one of the experts chosen by the old lessees to examine the road, and commenced the work at the beginning of this year. Mr. Julius L. Brown, for the plaintiffs, examined Mr. Harris closely on the report of the experts. He said that in 1870 twenty-one miles of track were used as side tracks, and when the lease changed hands December 27, 1890, there were in use forty-five miles of side tracks, consisting partly of the old tracks extended and partly newly constructed. The cost of this improvement was $84,719.

He also testified that many other improvements had been made, among them the rebuilding of the freight sheds.

Several papers were also presented going to show that when the original lessees took hold of the road in 1870 it was in a generally worn-out condition.

Mr. Brown then turned the witness over to the state's attorneys, who subjected him to a searching cross-examination. He asked the witness if he remembered testifying before a legislative committee in 1870.

Mr. Harris could not single out any one committee, but said he probably did testify before the one specified, as he had been called before several committees about that time.

When asked if the red roses pulled up in 1870 could have been sold for $40, the witness could not state positively what price they brought, but said it was a good one.

Mr. Cumming protested against this testimony, saying it was irrelevant, as the property's value at that time had nothing to do with the present case. Mr. Boykin Wright argued in support of the objection and the commission reserved its decision until today.

Mr. Harris said the engine house and roundhouse were worth today about $20,000. In the original report of the experts several things were unappraised, but in the one they returned this year everything had been valued. After a few minor qnestions had been asked and answered the commission adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning.

The whole matter is about to take on new phases and complications that, possibly, were hardly looked for by the old lessees when they filed a betterment claim against the state for $731,000.

Yesterday the state, through its attorneys, filed two important documents with the clerk and official stenographer, Mr. H. L. Parry.

The first is a petition setting forth that the state is not indebted to the plaintiffs, as alleged in their petition; that it does not owe the plaintiffs for any claim or item of indebtedness set forth in the said petition and the exhibits thereto, and denies all right on the part of petitioners or any person or persons to recover against this defendant for any of the matters or things set out in plaintiff's suit.

The defendant says that when the road was originally leased there was no law in Tennessee imposing a tax upon the defendant's property, lying withing that state, either for state, county or municipal purposes, and that the taxes thereafter exacted were imposed upon the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company, the original lessees, then controlling and operating the road, and doing business in Tennessee, and that the said company were liable, and not this defendant.

And for further plea the defendant says that if the plaintiffs paid any taxes upon said property in the state of Tennessee, either to that state, the county of Hamilton or city of Chattanooga, said taxes were voluntarily paid without complaint to this defendant, without its consent or knowledge, and with no authority to do so for or on behalf of this defendant, and that said taxes, having been voluntarily paid, do not constitute a legal claim against the state of Georgia, and that the defendent is not indebted and cannot be held liable for such payment of taxes.

The defendant further pleads that if the plaintiffs have paid any taxes to the state, county or city aforesaid since 1879, they did so with the full knowledge that this defendant had positively refused to pay the same and denied its liability therefor.

The defendant further says that the taxes were assessed under the laws of Tennessee against the company, and not against the property of the state of Georgia; further, that the plaintiffs' right of action, if they ever had any, for taxes alleged to have been paid to the state, county or city aforesaid prior to February 10, 1887, accrued more than four years before the filing of their petition, and that their right of action to such items and amounts is barred by the statute of limitations.

The state in, its second petition, says that the resolution of the legislature approved December 22, 1890, which authorized the creation of this commission, and defined its duties, powers and jurisdiction, expressly limits the power of the commission to inquire into and decide the alleged claims of the plaintiffs for taxes paid the state of Tennessee and for the alleged improvement of the condition of the road. That no authority is given the commission to inquire into and decide what structures and property placed upon the railroad or its right of way are trade fixtures, or to decide upon the right of the lessees to remove the same during the term of their lease. Therefore, this defendant says that all the questions made in the said petition and in the exhibits thereto, as to certain structures and property being trade fixtures,and as to the right of the said plaintiffs to remove the same during the term of their lease, are beyond the jurisdiction of the commission.

The defendant says, further. that the resolution creating the commission limits the aggregate amount of claims to be inquired into by the commission to the sum of $550,000, and as the claims presented by the plaintiffs exceed that amount, the commission has no authority or jurisdiction in the premises.

"Is it true, colonel, that the state, in addition to denying the right of the plaintiffs to claim betterments, will file a counter claim against the latter?" was asked of Colonel Clifford Anderson, one of the state's attorneys, yesterday.

"Yes," he replied, "but it will be some days before it is done, as we have a number of preliminaries to arrange. However, we have taken one step in that direction already by giving the plaintiffs' attorneys formal notice of the fact."

"How long will the commission be in session?"

"Probably several weeks yet. However, I am of the opinion that an adjournment will be taken to some future date at the end of this week, as Colonel Hammond, chairman of the commission, will, I understand, be called out of the city next week to attend the hearing of a case in which he is engaged. It is not likely that our claim will be filed previous to adjournment."

FROM OUR NOTEBOOKS.

To Succeed Mr. Kontz.—Mr. J. P. Leach, the new district superintendent of the Pullman company, who is to succeed Mr. A. L. Kontz, will arrive today and assume his duties.

Mr. Leach has been for a number of years the assistant district superintendent of Jersey City, from which place he will leave directly for Atlanta. He is a comparatively young man, and has never been to Atlanta before.

Dr. Boring Worse.—Dr. Boring was very low yesterday, after having spent an easy night. It was not known whether this was temporary or not. At any rate, his condition is decidedly less hopeful than it has been during the past few days.

Mr. Harris Better.—Mr. Jack Harris is improving steadily, and his physicians think that he will be about in ten days or two weeks. He was allowed to sit up for awhile yesterday, but is still quite weak.

Mr. Hendrix Will Be Out.—The condition of Mr. J. C. Hendrix has shown such a decided improvement that he will probubly be at his office again in a few days. Being still weak as the result of his severe illness, it will be necessary for him to remain at home till then.

The Young Man Released.—Ben Anderson, the young man arrested for passing or attempting to pass two counterfeit dollars Monday night at the El Dorado auction house on Decatur street, was released yesterday. The officers investigated the case, and came to the conclusion that Anderson was the victim of somebody else's rascality. Anderson was identified as a hard-working young man of one of the best families of Gilmer county.

Taken to Henry County.—Sheriff Glass came to Atlanta yesterday morning for the negro, John Henry Wheems, arrested Monday. The sheriff identified the negro as the one who broke open a storehouse in Henry county about Christmas Sheriff Glass and his prisoner left for McDonough last night.

Met Last Night.—The Young People's League of Trinity held a regular meeting last night. It consisted of devotional services and a very interesting talk on "Insurance" by Mr. Weems.

Grand Masonic Concert.—The grand Masonic concert to come off for the benefit of W. D. Luckie lodge of Masons tomorrow night (Thursday, the 12th), under the direction of Miss Lelia G. Hanbury, deserves more than a passing notice. The programme which will be presented will be equal to any ever presented in Atlanta, and should draw a large and appreciative audience. Among those on the programme are the following well-known artists:

Mr. Natorp Blumenfeld, the eminent violin virtuoso, will render several solos.

Miss Heidt, the well-known vocalist, who was the soloist at Chautauqua last season, will also appear.

Miss Lelia G. Hanbury, one of the finest pianists in the south, will render several numbers from the old masters. Miss Hanbury is a brilliant young artiste, and is always heartily received.

Professor Carlisle, the inimitable banjoist, will render several pleasing compositions.

Mr. T. P. Hanbury, with his silver flute, will favor the audience with its sweet tones by a solo.

Miss Woten, the elocutionist, recently from the Boston School of Elocution, will doubtless please and delight the audience.

The Orpheus Club, composed of sixteen members, will render some of their finest selections. This is one of the finest male glee clubs in the south. Mr. S. H. Cole, the director, has spared no pains to bring this club up to the full standard of excellence. Mr. Cole, who is well known to Atlanta audiences as a superb tenor, will also favor the audience with a number.

The new hall of West End academy will furnish ample seating capacity. The public is invited. Take the Whitehall (West End) street cars, which pass the doors of the academy. Admission, 50 cents.

Compliment to an Atlantian.—"The Churchman," of New York, has purchased the copyright and is now publishing an Easter festal march entitled "Come Ye Faithful Raise the Strain," from the pen of Professor H. G. Gilmore, late organist and choir master of St. Philip's church in this city. The music throughout is melodious and taking, while the harmony is especially fine.

An Important Announcement.—Judge Newman will call the civil docket of the United States circuit court this morning at 10 o'clock, and cases will be assigned for trial on dates after the conclusion of the present criminal business, which will be early in April.

The Road Exonerated.—Coroner Davis yesterday held an inquest over the remains of James Allen, the man killed in the Western and Atlantic yard Monday afternoon. The verdict of the jury, after a thorough investigation, relieved the railroad company of blame for the accident. The details of the killing as brought out in the investigation were the same as published yesterday.

For the Ladies.—Mr. Pause, who is known far and wide as being an expert in the restaurant business, has fitted up a first-class place for ladies in the old capitol building. The ladies' entrance is on the lower Marietta street corner.

A WHIST PARTY.

TO PASS AWAY THE DULLNESS OF LENT.

Beautiful Debutantes Who Are Visiting the City—Mrs. Thornton Entertains Mr. and Mrs. Swan—Other Events.

Why don't home society women, charitably inclined, get up a whist party to lift lenten dullness and do good to the needy?

A whist party, in the latest acceptation of the word, does not mean a party of people invited to spend an evening playing that intricate game, but the people themselves are the cards, and they dress themselves accordingly. Fifty-two people are selected to represent the fifty-two cards. The prettiest women among them take the part of the queens, and the honors are represented by the swellest young men, while the older social lions play the kings, and then come the other cards in their regular order. Just how the game is played is a mystery to the uninitiated writer, but I suppose that the four players sit on the stage at the customary table and deal the cards for a game of whist, then the card people must all come out, have a march around the stage and arrange themselves in order ready to come out and to be played as they are called forth by the players. The game certainly is a unique one and must be very clever and entertaining.

At DeGive's Last Night.

DeGive's opera house was crowded last night to witness Rice's Evangeline, and everybody went away thoroughly satisfied.

There was no matinee yesterday because the company did not reach Atlanta,and that made the house doubly large last night.

Evangeline is the same sweet, attractive opera it was when first produced, and the company last night was as fine as any ever seen in Atlanta.

Patti Stone, as Evangeline, caught the house and was brought back several times. Her voice is a marvel of richness and sweetness. She captured the house.

Gabriel by Geraldine McConn was good.

Bernard J. Reilly as LeBlanco, and Edward Collins as Benedict were good.

In fact, the company throughout was good, and the audience was duly appreciative.

LADY PHYSICIANS.

Commencement of the Woman's Medical College of Georgia.

Unique commencement exercises.

Nothing like it has ever been witnessed in Atlanta, or for that mater in the south.

Seven graduates of the Woman's Medical College of Georgia will receive their diplomas this evening.

This college is just closing its second year. Las year there was but one graduate, and she is doing an extensive practice at her native town in New Jersey.

At the beginning of the second term, October 1, 1890, there were eighteen matriculates, seven of whom now graduate.

There is a department devoted to the training of women for nurses, and eight of these will receive certificates for proficiency as nurses.

The exercises will occur at DeGive's opera house, beginning at 8 o'clock this evening, and Rev. Dr. R. S. Barrett will confer the degrees.

There will be a ballad by Miss Congdon, of Atlanta, who is a member of the class.

The salutatory will be delivered by Miss Sarah Louther, an accomplished lady, whose home is in Pennsylvania.

Miss Jennie Yelvington, of Pennsylvania, who has proven herself one of the most proficient of the class, will deliver the valedictory.

The faculty, of which Rev. Dr. A. G. Thomas is president and Dr. J. W. Stone dean, will be present, and conduct the exercises, which will be most interesting. After the graduating exercises there will be a banquet in honor of the graduating class given by the faculty.

The college is in a most flourishing condition, and the board of trustees is composed of some of the leading ladies of Atlanta: Mrs. Governor Northen, president; Mrs. A. B. Steele, vice president; Mrs. Dr. R. S. Barrett, secretary. The college is is located in the Chamberlin & Johnson building, and the next term begins October 1, 1891.

One special feature of the college is, that the fees are reduced one-half for wives, widows and daughters of soldiers of the late war.

ABOUT THE CAPITOL.

WILL THE W. AND A. BE ALLOWED THREE CENTS A MILE

As a Passenger Rate?—The Application Was Argued Yesterday—What About the Military Encampment?

Will the Western and Atlantic be allowed to go back to its old passenger rate of 3 cents a mile?

That is a question that, directly or indirectly, interests a great many people.

The application of President Thomas, of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, was argued yesterday at the meeting of the railroad commission. The road was represented by President Thomas, General Passenger Agent C. E. Harman and Superintendent McCullom.

The decision of the commission is a matter of dollars and cents to the road and to the traveling public; and aside from that, this application is the result of an experiment that excited considerable interest at the time it was inaugurated. That was the voluntary reduction by the old lessee management of the passenger rate below the rate fixed by the commission.

The other roads, in contending for the higher rate, figured out that the conditions in this state demandedta three-cent tariff; and after considering all things the commission fixed that rate.

The voluntary reduction by the Western and Atlantic was something decidedly out of the usual order.

President Thomas argued forcibly in favor of a restoration to the old rate, urging the increased rental and money to be expended in improvements—an outlay over and above the corresponding expense account of the old lesses that required a higher rate.

The decision of the commission was reserved.

About the Encampment.

It is claimed now, apropos of the discussion about the military encampment, that the law passed at the last session of the legislature—the law under which the advisory board has been acting—is void and of no effect because of technical errors.

If the errors should prove serious enough, in the opinion of the attorney general, to invalidate the law, then what the advisory board has done is also void and of no effect.

Two errors are alleged to have been made.

1. There is no title to the resolution, to set forth the subject matter thereof.

2. The resolution, which has the effect of an act, was read only one time in the house; whereas the constitution of the state requires three readings before each branch of the legislature.

Until an opinion from the attorney general is had, no further action in the matter will be taken.

The Central Railroad Case.

The Central railroad was cited to show cause yesterday why it had failed to carry out the circular of the commission in regard to joint rates.

The road was represented by Mr. J. J. Spalding, to who asked for a continuance on the ground that their principal attorneys were detained in court at Savannah.

The case was thereupon continued to the 24th of March.

She Sweetly Sleeps.

The funeral services of Miss Mamie O'Brien took place at the Church of the Immaculate Conception yesterday. At 1 o'clock the casket was taken to the church, and there the last ceremonials were conducted.

After the exercises were concluded, the body was conveyed to the depot, and on the train it was sent on its last earthly journey to Columbus, where the funeral will take place today.

COMPANY B

Still at Work Getting Ready for Memorial Day.

Company B Confederate Veterans, is one of those organizations that never loose their hold, once they determine to accomplish a thing. The company now consists of about sixty members, all of whom are old soldiers who cherish the memorie of the lost cause. This is, perhaps, the first organization of its kind in the state to adopt a regulation uniform, and endeavor to perpetuate in deed as well as in name, all those traditions that are dearest to the heart of those who fought and bled for Dixie.

Company B is hard at work trying to uniform the thirty members who have entered into the movement, so that one company, at least, will be enabled to appear on Memorial Day, April 26th, in a dress becoming the solemnity of the occasion. The uniforms have been ordered, the measures taken, and the first payment of the installments provided for.

As is well known, these old veterans, despite their patriotic devotion, are men who have not secured a large portion of this world's goods since the close of the war. They are not beggars, but for the sake of once more arraying themselves in the old confederate gray, they have made many sacrifices. In their efforts to secure their uniforms they have been generously assisted by many of the prosperous people of Atlanta, and veterans of the federal army have been equally as liberal as those who stood by their colors on the other side. Any donations will be gladly received by Captain S. H. Landrum, whose office is at the armory, No. 28½ Decatur street; by Lieutenant Martin Nally or by Major W. A. Hemphill, of the battalion. The company is also the first to accept the invitation to attend the world's fair, in Chicago, and if there is a corporal's guard in existence at that time they will be on hand to show that the victories of war are as nothing compared to the triumphs of peace.

A DIAMOND STUD, of really good quality is a good investment. There are very few articles that can be disposed of for so nearly what it cost, as a diamond, well bought. Every well dressed gentleman is supposed to have one, but those who have deferred the purchase will do well to inspect our stock, and understand our inducements—the sooner the better. or any other funny man couldn't say anything to improve trade, but high quality, fresh goods and low prices always bring the customers. And just here we want to say a word for that best of all flours—The Regal Patent. The mill from which we buy is situated in the best wheat-growing district of the United States. The flour is so ground that it retains all of the nutritious qualities of the wheat and yet is light and white as snow. If you have a special fancy cake or an extra quality pastry, or if you always want good, pure, light, wholesome bread, remember our Regal Patent flour will always give the right results. Hundreds testify of its purity and excellency.

Our California peaches, pears, white cherries and apricots still continue to give the best of satisfaction, and at the extremely low price of $3.50 per dozen cans, of the full standard quality. They are within the reach of all.

We sell the finest of sugar corn—the Windham brand—packed by Thurber-Whyland Company, at 15 cents. Why pay 20 cents for an inferior corn when you can get the best at 15 cents?

We have also decided to reduce our dried grapes to 6 cents per pound. We have a small lot of them only, and until they are closed out 6 cents per pound will take them.

As a fine relish for meat or a splendid sauce for fish, nothing excels the imported Walnut catsup, made by Crosse & Blackwell. It has been reduced to 25 cents per bottle, until it is introduced and all have thoroughly tested its merits.

We are also making a specialty of fresh vegetables. We have them in every variety—English peas, carrots, soup bunches, new onions, green cabbage, parsley, turnips, etc.

Fresh strawberries have come in and are fine, and extremely cheap for the early berries. Come and see us.

We will extend to you a cordial welcome, courteous treatment and will furnish you with fresh, pure goods at rock-bottom prices.

THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The stock market today was still dull and the strong tone of yesterday was lacking, although some further slight upward progress was made in early dealings. Narrowness of the market, however, was again sufficiently demonstrated, trading being purely professional. The selling of the forenoon was confined first to Burlington, St. Paul, Rock Island and Louisville, but Lackawanna was attacked later and Atchison followed. The general list showed few marked movements among inactive shares, among which a drop of 5 per cent. in New Haven, equally large fluctuations in Oregon Navigation and a loss of 1½ per cent. in Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg were most prominent. The declaration of a quarterly dividend of 2½ per sent. was the immediate cause of a movement in Navigation, and other movements among the general list were from special causes. The Coal stocks were last to feel the pressure bit, after moderate losses attack was discontinued. The general list rallied fully in the afternoon after losses which extended to 1¼ per cent., but final dealings were again rather heavy and the market closed with a very moderate volume of business. The final changes are in all cases slight and quite irregular. The sales of stocks listed 15,000, unlisted 17,000.

Exchange quiet and steady at 486@489; commercial bills 484½@487½.

NEW YORK, March 10.—A strong opening followed the strong closing of yesterday, and there was considerable covering at the high prices; but, when the demand from that quarter was supplied, the room traders jumped on the market and brought a slight reaction. The bears were at work all day pushing their advantage, and Mr. Coombs was selling low to affect the market. The objective point was Atchison. This stock was sold on the news that Messrs. Kidder, Peabody & Co. were going to dissolve. The Boston house goes on, but the New York house will be called Baring, Magown & Co., and be separate and distinct from the Boston house. It is ridiculous to sell Atchison on this story, as the bankers have little or no interest any more in this company. Some day Mr. Gould will turn up as the real owner of Atchison. Chicago, Burlington and Quincy was bought all day, and the bears could not make much of an impression. This stock is cheap. The last hour the market got strong again, and closed with all indications of a higher market in the near future. CAHN & CO.

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, March 10—[Special.]—Liverpool lost today more than half the advance of yesterday, and our market, under the heavy receipts at New Orleans, opened easy at a decline of 6 points from yesterday's closing quotations. On the decline those who sold yesterday on the advance were quick to cover their sales, and the market slowly improved during the afternoon, closing steady at the best prices. Yesterday's sharp reaction in Liverpool has created a little change in the bearish sentiment; and, while the movement continues upon a scale which would indicate a crop of 8,400,000 bales and Manchester remain dull, the temper of the market is to pay more attention to the price than to these factors, which have so long exerted a depressing influence upon prices. Receipts at Augusta are interrupted by high water, while at Memphis they are double. There appears to be no end to the amount of cotton in the country, and it is thought the interior movement will exceed 24,000 bales, against 9,900 bales for the same week in 1890. Receipts tomorrow will probably be 14,000 bales. The signal service reports clearing weather in the south.

By Private Wire to Youngblood & Haas.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Liverpool gave us a very fluctuating market, opening 1@2-64d higher. They subsequently lost this, and actually came 2@3-64d lower than the previous closing. Here there was an easier feeling at the opening at a decline of 6@7 points. Prices continued extremely steady during the greater portion of the day. Towards the afternoon, however, a somewhat more extended inquiry prevailed and values gradually improved to almost last night's figures. There has been no feature worthy of note—the advance simply due to an absence of sellers. Receipts show no special falling off, and were again liberal today. Our idea of port receipts this week is between 95,000 and 100,000 bales. Some little apprehension exists owing to the inclemency of the weather south and the possibility that this may affect planting. It is too early to give this matter any very serious importance as yet. Manchester was quoted to us by one of our friends as being steady. Another correspondent cables us there is little demand for goods at lower prices. LEHMAN BROS.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, March 10.—May wheat started at $1.02¼, or precisely where it closed yesterday, and the first rush of selling carried it off to $1.01⅞. Heavy purchases, presumed to be for Hutchinson, lifted it to $1.02⅜ again, but it did not hold. After reacting to $1.01¾, and hanging around $1.01⅞@102 until nearly noon, it improved to $1.02⅜ because of official closing cables, which quoted Liverpool prices 1d per cental up on wheat and 6d up on flour. May broke to $1.01⅜ shortly after noon, but was checked here by purchases against "puts." The closing cables from Paris quoted prices a trifle easier.

Receipts of corn were 90 cars more than the trade anticipated. The market for this reason opened a trifle weak. Liberal purchases by several of the receivers and sharp bullish tactics by a dealer soon started values upward. May started at 60¾c, sold for a moment at 60⅝c, advanced to 61c, fell back to 60c, on attempts of several of the longs to sell out, and then was worked speedily up to 62c. Selling thereafter and the weakness of wheat broke it to 60⅝c.

Oats followed corn. May started at 50⅞c, sold to 52c and off to 51¼c. The volume of business was large, as the wide range of prices would indicate.

There was quite a little boom in provisions. It was caused by the advance in corn, light receipts of hogs and buying by shorts. May pork started at $10.10, sold to $10.05 and up to $10.30. It was off to 10.15 before the close.

Private Wire Telegram to Youngblood & Haas.

CHICAGO, March 10.—On account of the strong private and public cables this morning, and the fear that the government report, due this afternoon, will not make as good a showing on the growing crop as expected, caused considerable strength in wheat part of the day, but the later private cables did not corroborate the strength reported early, and the favorable weather in France reported yesterday was confirmed today. We also note that there were selling orders from Paris, London and Liverpool. The bull turn seems to have spent its force, and the government report will have to be very unfavorable to sustain prices. A few of the most obstinate bears, having been short for a long while, came up like little men today and took their medicine, and in all probability we have seen the highest prices for some time. Should the government report show very light stocks back in the farmers' hands the bull fever may start again, but we think it decidedly hazardous to buy corn at the present price.

Oats were strong by spells but closed easier in sympathy with wheat and corn.

The hog market was strong all day, closing with a fair advance sustained. The domestic and foreign demand was very good. LAMSON BROS. & CO.

DR. HOPKINS CHOSEN.

THE PRESIDENCY OF THE CHATTAHOOCHEE IRON COMPANY

Tendered to the President of the Technological School—It Is Understood that He Will Accept.

The presidency of the Chattahoochee Land and Iron Company has been offered to Dr. I. S. Hopkins, president of the Georgia Institute of Technology, and it is understood that he will accept the position with all the responsibility that it implies.

In doing this Dr. Hopkins has the assurance of financial backing and absolute confidence, such as few men enjoy in embarking in a new enterprise. The stock subscription has reached the aggregate of $243,000, and was swelled by considerable lumps within the past thirty-six hours. Night before last a lady passing through the city subscribed for $6,000 of the stock, and yesterday a telegram from a Georgia merchant in New York announced that he had sold 225 shares at par, making $22,500, and had more sales in sight.

The samples of ore brought down from Canton last week by Dr. Hopkins and Mr. Wilkerson, have been displayed in several windows at Mr. Phil Haralson's store, and Dr. Wilson's office and have attracted great attention. Mr. Eastman says the ore shows one-tenth of 1 per cent of phosphorus and 3 per cent of silica, a combination rarely found, which makes an iron of peculiar hardness and strength. It is called machinery iron, and is harder than steel.

"What we propose to do," said Mr. Eastman, "is to build at once a sixty-ton charcoal furnace, and then locate enough industries consuming pig iron to take our entire product. When that is done we will build another sixty-ton furnace. In other words, we propose to raise an iron family out there on the Chattanoochee.

"We have exceptional advantages. First, there is the ore in massive veins, only thirty miles from the Chattahoochee, where we build the furnace. Ordinary ore with fifteen t twenty-five per cent of silica takes large quantities of limestone to flux it, and limestone is a considerable item on the expense account. This ore, with 3 per cent of silica, requires very little limestone.

"Then there is the saving in freight. Ore with 15 to 25 per cent of silica carries that much dead weight. You have to haul that much more than is needed to make the iron. Then we make a great saving in freight by having little or no silica."

What Dr. Hopkins Will Do.

There seems to be little doubt that Dr. Hopkins will accept the presidency of the company. The leaders hum and haw a good deal, but it is learned from good authority that Dr. Hopkins will resign the presidency of the Technological school next week, the resignation to take effect the 15th of June.

It is said that the time of actual departure is to be postponed several months, in order that Dr. Hopkins may see the preparatory department of the Technological school organized. The trustees of the institute are not altogether unprepared for the change, for it is said that Dr. Hopkins told them long ago that he wanted to see the institution well established, and then he would turn it over to other hands.

Dr. Hopkins's career has indeed been a well-rounded one. Starting out as a minister of the Methodist church and a college professor, he became a college president. During his stay in college he developed strongly in metaphysics. Unlike many who pursue that study, he also gave much attention to physics, and especially that department of applied science which deals with the affairs of every-day life. He established a pioneer technical school at Oxford, and eventually he became more distinguished in physics, even, that he had been in metaphysics. His practical turn of mind was apparent in all the positions he occupied, and the trustees of the Technological school naturally sought him when the time came to select a president.

Now he is invited to take charge of one of the most important business enterprises in the state, and one whose future depends largely upon the ability of the man at the head. From the ministry to the head of an iron company is rather an unusual career, and there are few men broad enough to cover the ground that he implies.

AT THE THEATER.

Emma Abbott Opera Company.

The Emma Abbott Opera Company will appear in Atlanta Friday and Saturday evenings. There will be no matinee.

Mr. Bert F. Davis, the advance agent of the company, arrived in Atlanta this morning.

The prima donna of the company is Miss Eva Cummings. Miss Cummings is one of the foremost American prima donnas. Born in this country, but when a mere child was sent to Italy for thorough musical training under the celebrated Maestro Lamperti. Quite a fortune was spent on her education, and, after receiving the highest honors, she made the grand tour of Italy as prima donna with impresario Vienele. At Florence she achieved a marked success, and received the compliments of the renowned composer, Verdi; at Rome, an unusual and special gift from the Societa Patriotica—a massive crown of laurel and gold—which she still retains. At Milan she sang "No Cross, No Crown," on the occasion of the Garfield memorial. The American minister, the nobility and royal family, with King Victor Emanuel, graciously and enthusiastically applauded the fair singer.

Owing to her extended residence in Europe (where she is better known than in her native land,) she has only appeared on this side of the Atlantic in the Cuban and Mexican tours of the Milan Opera Company, and in fashionable metropolitan concerts. She speaks five languages fluently, and her operatic roles are sung in Italian, French, English and Spanish.

The other leading members of the company are: Mme. Broderick, contrato; Senor Michelena, primo-tenor; William Broderick, primo-basso.

The programme for Friday evening will be: The quartet act of Marta; grand concert numbers, including "The Palms," "Flower Song," "Aria—Like a Dream," and "Trio-Attilla;" the third part will be the entire fourth act of "Il Trovatore."

A Cloud of Witnesses.

We know of no medicine that has so many testimonials to its efficiency as S. S. S., the great blood purifier. Many of the best known people in the country certify to the marvellous results it has wrought in the various forms of disease for which it is recommended. These testimonials come not alone from persons who have been relieved of their sufferings by S. S. S., but from people who have witnessed the effects of the medicine. Practicing physicians, druggists, pharmacists—in fact, all who have had an opportunity of observing the cures brought about by this great blood remedy—bear willing testimony to its efficacy. In its field, which is a wide one, covering some of the most serious ailments of humanity, S. S. S. has no rival.

IN THE COURTS.

The Mawkins Case Continued in the City Court.

The case of Mawkins against the East Tennessee railroad was again taken up in the city court yesday.

This is a suit for $1,500 personal damages by Mrs. Mawkins, growing out of an accident at Peters street crossing about a year ago, when a hack in which Mr. and Mrs. Mawkins were riding was ran into by an East Tennessee engine.

Mrs. Mawkins was badly hurt by being thrown from the hack, and hence the suit.

A Strong Suit.

Mrs. M. E. Martin has a suit, which from the evidence yesterday, offers to be a pretty strong one against the city.

In March, 1888, she fell into a gully near Payne's Chapel, on Luckie street, and sustained serious injuries.

The case will probably be concluded today. The amount sued for is $5,000.

Court Notes.

A Proof of Merit.

When a remedy proves itself a cure for the very worst phases of blood poison, it stands to reason that minor effects of bad blood will rapidly disappear if the remedy is used in time. No remedy in the world has so good reputation at home or abroad as a cure for all stages of blood poison as B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm).

Benj. Morris, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I suffered years from syphilitic blood poison which refused to be cured by all treatment. Physicians pronounced it a hopeless case. I had no appetite, I had pains in my hips and joints and my kidneys were diseased. My throat was ulcerated and my breast a mass of running sores. In this condition, I commenced a use of B. B. B. It healed every ulcer and cured me completely within two months."

Robt. Ward, Maxey, Ga., writes: "My disease was pronounced a tertiary form of blood poison. My face, head and shoulders were a mass of corruption, and finally the disease began eating my skull bones. My bones ached; my kidneys were deranged, I lost flesh and strength, and life became a burden. All said I must surely die, but nevertheless, when I had used ten bottles of B. B. B. I was pronounced sound and well. Hundreds of scars can now be seen on me. I have now been well over twelve months."

A. P. Brunson, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I had 24 running ulcers on one leg and six on the other, and felt greatly prostrated. I believe I actually swallowed a barrel of medicine, in vain efforts to cure the disease. With little hope I finally acted on the urgent advice of a friend, and got a bottle of B. B. B. I experienced a change, and my despondency was somewhat dispelled. I kept using it until I had taken about sixteen bottles, and all the ulcers, rheumatism, and all other horrors of blood poison have disappeared, and at last I am sound and well again, after an experience of twenty years of torture." wed fri sun

WANT A RECEIVER.

SEVERAL CREDITORS OF THE GEORGIA BOX FACTORY DEMUR.

The Claim that the Company Has no Right to Select Preferences Among the Creditors of the Concern.

Another phase in the Southern Box factory story yesterday morning.

Mr. Walter R. Baum, representing the Bond Lumber Company, of Nashville, and Wiehl, Probasco & Co., the corporation known as the Bank of Chattanooga, filed a petition in the superior court, asking for the appointment of a receiver for the Southern Box factory, and asking for a restraining order from the court against the company and G. V. Gress, assignee.

THE ORDER GRANTED.

After a careful consideration of the case Judge Marshall J. Clarke granted a temporary restraining order, and set the case for final hearing Saturday, March 14th.

The petition sets forth, among other allegations, that the assignment is null and void, because it does not comply with the law in that the affidavits attached, made by J. W. Baum, who claims to be president and general manager, do not state that the schedule of assets is a full and complete inventory and schedule of all assets, of every kind held, claimed as owned by the factory at the time the assignment was made.

Petitioners further claim that the Southern Box factory, by reason of the deed of assignment, surrendered its charter and ceased to exist at the time the assignment was made, and could not make legal preferences of creditors.

On this poin there are some nice legal questions involved.

Another claim is that the assignment fails to designate an assignee, and that the deed in this particular is blank.

A PRINCIPAL POINT.

Another point is that it is invalid because the assignment was made by the stockholders, in meeting assembled, and not by the board of directors, which petitioners claim is the only legal method of procedure in such cases.

The petition asks that a receiver be appointed and that G. V. Gress be directed to turn over the assets to such receiver, and that the company, as well as G. V. Gress, be restrained from encumbering or disposing of the property of the Southern Box factory.

Further, that all preferences among creditors be set aside, and that the assets be equally distributed among the creditors, and that petitioners may have judgment for the amounts due them.

The case will be a very interesting one. The sheriff of Fulton county served the parties enjoined yesterday, and business is suspended until the time of the hearing.

Mr. Baum left for Chattanooga yesterday morning to confer with parties there holding claims against the company.

A GEORGIA GENTLEMAN.

Mr. W. H. C. Mickleberry Breathes His Last After a Long Illness.

Mr. W. H. C. Mickleberry died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Milton Hightower, in Hogansville, at 4 o'clock yesterday morning.

His death is the ending of a long and honored life and a career of usefulness seldom equaled in the history of Atlanta business men.

Several weeks ago Mr. Mickleberry was attacked with pneumonia, and for many days lingered between life and death.

As a last resort he was sent to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Milton Hightower, Hogansville, where it was hoped that a change of location and careful nursing would restore him to his usual health.

In 1846 he was a merchant at Indian Spring, in partnership with a Mr. Mobley, and afterwards removed to Griffin, where he was engaged in business for several years.

Shortly after the war he came to this city, and was for some time connected with Mr. A. K. Seago in business.

Afterwards he went into business on his own account and was quite successful.

Several years ago he became a member of the firm of Mickleberry & McClendon, grocers, on Broad street, and for a long time remained an active partner of that firm. He was a member of the firm at the time of his death.

He was sixty-seven years of age, and his life was one of honorable usefulness. He was a deacon in the First Baptist church for many years, and six years ago was made chairman of the committee of the poor, for which position he was eminently qualified on account of his sympathetic heart and generous nature. Many a poor and needy person and many an afflicted family will testify to his noble devotion to his duty.

He was long a member of the Knights of Honor.

He leaves behind him the devoted wife who has walked by his side during long years of domestic happiness, and four children—Mr. J. J. Mickleberry, Mr. W. M. Mickleberry, Mrs. Milton Hightower and Mrs. J. B. Wallace.

The body will arrive in the city at 10:50 o'clock this morning, and will be conveyed to the First Baptist church, where the funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Dr. J. B. Hawthorne, at 11 o'clock.

After the service the body will be borne to the union passenger depot, and will be sent to Griffin on the 2:15 o'clock train, where it will be laid to rest.

The following officers of the First Baptist church have been selected as pallbearers, and are requested to meet at the undertaking establishment of Mr. H. M. Patterson at 10:15 o'clock this morning: Mr. R. A. Monteith, Mr. D. O. Dougherty, Mr. J. E. Carlton, Mr. A. P. Stewart, Mr. J. H. Goldsmith and Mr. Thomas W. Callaway.

The Finest Boy Known.

With pleasure do we inform you that on January 28th were we blessed with the advent of a fine boy, weighing 10¾ pounds—perfect, healthy and fine-looking. We had no need of a physician. All well and doing well. General verdict: He is the finest boy known, is growing fast, good-natured and fully developed. Thanks for assistance obtained through the use of "Mothers Friend." We are well and favorably impressed with the merits of the remedy, believing all ladies who use it will be benefited.

May success attend you in your endeavors to send assistance to suffering women during the trials incident to child-bearing.

YOU OUGHT TO KNOW.

The continued use of mercury mixtures, poisons the system, brings on mercurial rheumatism, and causes the bones to decay. The use of S. S. S. forces impurities from the blood, gives a good appetite and digestion, and builds up the whole human frame.

Good Advice.

Three years ago I was compelled to throw up my place because of blood poison. Hot Springs' physicians and mercury did me no good. Through the advice of another I began taking S. S. S., and to-day I am well and at work again. What more can I say for the medicine, except "go and do likewise."

His Son Cured.

Mr. W. H. Hinman, of Mount Vernon, Ill., writes as follows: One bottle of Swift's Specific (S. S. S., to others for the blood troubles and diseases of the skin and have never known it to fail to cure in any case."
